LEGISLATORS WARN GOVERNOR

OKLAHOMA FIGHT BECOMES BITTER

Solons Assert Executive Will Move at His Peril If He Attempts to Halt the Extra Session of Lawmakers.

(Associated Press.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21.—Legislators seeking the official head of Governor J. C. Walton marched on today in their plans for impeachment, while the executive gathered strength for a final drive on the Ku Klux Klan, which he blames for the storm that has broken about him.

The lower house of the Oklahoma legislature will convene at noon Wednesday to consider charges that Walton has set at naught constitutional government, and if the governor interferes with the meeting he acts at his peril. This was the pronouncement of legislators who will seek the executive's impeachment.

Walton's final attitude toward the house session was expected to be developed during the day but his legislative enemies were confident that he would not carry out his threat to jail the house members if they attempted to assemble. Since voicing his threat some of the governor's legal advisers have urged him to permit the session as they declare it would be illegal and without effect. However, the final word remains to be spoken and the threat has not yet been withdrawn.

Ask for Funds.

Admitting the fight was weighing heavily upon him, the governor sent out an appeal for funds, asking those "who believed in representative form of government" to send contributions to Mrs. Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City, wife of the executive counsellor. Blake now is now absent from the state on a mission for the governor.

He said that if it proved necessary he would army every man in the state who is opposed to the "invisible empire."

A broadside was turned on the klan by the governor last night when he released a portion of the testimony taken before a military court J. K. Wright, Sheriff Tom Cavnar here showing that County Attorney J. K. Wright, Sheriff Tom Cavnar and District Judge G. W. Clark had been obligated in the klan; and detailing charges made by Dr. A. A. Maupin, a dentist and former member of the organization, as to the connection of the "invisible empire" with mob violence.

It was Judge Clark who issued the call for a special grand jury to investigate charges that Governor Walton illegally had used state employes to check names on an initiative petition to which he was opposed.

The grand jury was dismissed when the military authorities trained machine guns on the courtroom at the orders of the governor.

Dragon Denies Charge.

(International News Service.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 21. "I have never taken part in a flogging in my life—the charge made against me in Governor Walton's military court is a deliberate falsehood."

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma Ku Klux Klan, in an exclusive interview today vigorously defended himself against the charge of Dr. A. A. Maupin, a dentist, made before the military court in session here. Jewett, a dark complexioned man, six feet tall and weighing over 200 pounds, a typical "business man" type discussed with repressed feelings the charges of Maupin and the general indictment of the klan by Governor Walton.

JOHNSON RENEWS LEAGUE ATTACK

Declares Bombarding of Corfu By Mussolini "Shot Up" World Body.

(Associated Press.)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 21—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, speaking on "The League of Nations" at a luncheon here yesterday, declared "when Mussolini bombarded Corfu he shot up the moribund league of nations. The Italian cannon dramatically demonstrated to the world what was before known, what had many times been proven, but what internationalists failed to understand or wilfully refused to recognize."

The senator was introduced at the luncheon as a "favorite son Californians deem worthy to be president."

Since the establishment of the "eight member states have resorted to arms in violation of the covenant league, Senator Johnson continued, and in no instance has any attempt been made to penalize the offenders."

The senator asserted Lord Cecil now is endeavoring to have adopted a "new provision of the covenant by which force, that is, soldiers, could be requistioned in different zones to compel obedience to the league's mandates."

"I cannot repeat too often," continued the senator, "that this so-called court is not a court at all. It can act as its chief spokesman, Lord Cecil says, only when it is asked to do so by the nations in dispute. The great nations, England, France, Italy and Japan, have practically declined to submit to its compulsory jurisdiction."

SLOAN GIVES TALK ON CONSTITUTION

Says America Has Become Greatest World Power Through Its Doctrine.

Former Congressman Urges Farmers to Reduce Wheat Production.

Speaking at the Kiwanis club luncheon at the chamber of commerce Friday noon on the American constitution and the situation in Europe as he saw it on a recent tour of the continent, former Congressman Charles H. Sloan of Geneva, said, "so great is the constitution of the United States that England, which until recently was considered as having the greatest fundamental laws in the world would gladly exchange its constitution for one like that of America." This is true, he said because of the fact that there is nothing in the constitution of Great Britain which would prevent its complete overthrow over night should the republic of Germany fall and the communists gain control, sweep through France and Belgium and across the channel to England.

Because of the constitution of the United States the president of the nation is the greatest man in the world today Mr. Sloan told his listeners. This is true, he said, because America is the greatest world power and has become such through its constitution.

Speaking of America's agriculture as related to that of Europe, Mr. Sloan said that the American farmer has the greatest opportunity ever known. He urged the American farmer to reduce wheat production fully one fourth, predicting that by so doing prices would increase fifty per cent.

He urged a reduction of the grain crop because of the unusual effort's being made by European nations to produce little else than wheat and its companion crops.

Recommends Dairy Cattle.

In place of wheat the former congressman urged the Kiwanians to use their influence to the end that the American farmer devote his efforts to the growing of more and better beef and dairy cattle. "In Europe," he said, 'there is little stock growing, and nowhere save in Germany can a traveler find young cattle." He said that Germany has taken just the opposite action to that of France, Belgium, England and other continental countries and is not only raising all the small grains possible, but is also devoting every effort to the reconstruction of its herds.

America's opportunity in the cattle industry lies not alone in the lack of cattle growing in Europe, but also because of the great drain being made in both dairy animals and beef cattle, by the dread scourge tuberculosis, he declared.

Quoting from statistics which he had gathered while abroad, Mr. Sloan pointed out that in France and Belgium 48 and 49 per cent of the dairy animals were infected, and 50 per cent of all animals.

Paying a tribute to the industry of the Germans and Italians, Mr. Sloan said that the people of Germany are challengig the soil to yield its utmost capacity. Not an inch of uncultivated ground can be found, he said, and nowhere is thehe idleness, every man, woman and child old enough to work being employed either in the filds, factories or offices.

Slovakia On Sound Basis.

Czecho-Slovakia, according to the former congressman, was the best bottomed and best financed government of all nations on the continent. The people are industrious and are making a honest effort to overcome the effects of the war. Hungary, also was found to be making a great effort to recover. Hungary, he said, is the tragedy of Europe. But he believes that the government will survive and in the end take its place among the nations of the earth.

Tyler of Lincoln was a guest. Delicious refreshments were served by Mesdames Aeklam, Deane, Stanton, Lattin and J. Brown.

NOT TO MAKE MONEY DRIVES

Methodist Conference Resolves Not to Do Any General Soliciting During the Current Twelve Months.

LARGEST CLASS IS ADMITTED TO MINISTRY

Omaha Trustees for the Coming Year Include Gould Dietz, Dr. Jennie Calfas and Bishop Homer C. Stuntz.

There will be no general financial campaign or public solicitation of funds for any conference interest during the year 1923-24, according to a resolution adopted by the Methodist ministerial conference in session Friday morning.

The action taken by the Nebraska minister follows the report of the commission on conference policy which urged against any financial drives and asked that the ministers give themselves over to taking care of local interests in pastoral charges that had been deferred or found impracticable during the past four years when the centenary project has demanded so much attention.

An interesting part of the commission's report was a survey of achievements wrought by the Nebraska conference since is merger in 1912. During this decade 37,965 persons have been enrolled as preparatory members, the membership of the church has increased from 65,000 to 73,000 and the total contribution for all purposes during the ten years has been $12,733,260 or an average of $1,273,326 per year.

The statistical exhibit prepared by the commission shows the membership of the Nebraska Methodist church for 1922 to be 73,760. The Sunday school enrollment is 92,837. The Epworth league members total 13,433. Property value of Nebraska Methodist churches is estimated at $5,846,960.

Chose Four Delegates.

A fifth ballot was taken by the ministerial delegates Friday noon in an effort to select the Nebraska quota of nine delegates to the general conference next spring.

Two ballots were taken Thursday and resulted in the selection of Titus Lowe of Omaha on the second ballot.

The third ballot Friday morning resulted in the selection of H. G. Langley of Central City and I. B. Schreckengast of University Place, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan university. J. R. Gettys was elected on the fourth ballot There are five more delegates to elect.

Large Class Admitted.

The asembly of minister was please Friday morning with the largest class of aspiring ministers for several years. Thirteen were admitted to the conference on trial. Among the number was Rev. E. C. Kemble of Litchfield, former deputy state food commissioner. The thirteen admitted on trial are E. C. Kemble, Litchfield; Roy M. Young, Elk City; Earl Raitt, University Place; John Hoon, University Place; A. K. Williams, University Place; J. A. Carlyle, Chambers. Earl Sorter, Boston, Mass.; E. L. Corbett, Kearney; M. F. Mulvaney, Hampton; E. C. Monkman, University Place; J. A. Runnells, Chapman.

Sorter and J. Laverne Jay of Boston, Mass., were elected to deacon orders.

Gorton Roth of Omaha, chairman of the Willard Hall association reported on the work being done in the Omaha institution. The following of Omaha were elected trustees of the association:

For 1924, C. C. Crowell, Gorton Roth, E. H. Benner; for 1925, Gould Dietz, Dr. Jennie Calfas, George A. Roberts; for 1926, David Cole, Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, John H. Bexton.

E. J. T. Connelly, secretary of the conference claimants society, reported on the work being done by that group and asked a united support of the conference members in caring for the aged and retired pastors.

ASSERTS SOLDIER WAS NEGLECTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. — Private Guy Pendleton, 23 years old, regular soldier, did not receive "sufficient care and attention" lying in the post hospital at Fort Eustis, Va., prior to the amputation of his legs, Miss Julia McKenna, army nurse declared in a direct testimony today before the court martial trying Major George W. Cook, army doctor, on charges of malpractice and neglect of duty.

Asked by prosecution counsel whether in her opinion as a nurse, Private Pendleton received the same care and attention as was afforded in other major cases, Miss McKenna answered:

"I believe not."

Timm to Correct Polk Petitions

Mark Timm of Osceola, Polk county farm agent, has written to State Agriculture Secretary Shumway asking that the bovine tuberculosis petitions from that county which were filed some time ago be returned for correction.

"Tell us what you want and what the law requires, and we will get them right or get new petitions," Mr. Timm says in his letter.

Secretary Shumway said that the petitions would probably be returned, as requested. They were held by the state legal department to be defective and insufficient.

Dancing and Card Playing Prohibition of Methodists To Remain With No Change

Nebraska Laymen In Session Friday Pass Resolution Unanimously Asking That General Conference Retain Old Discipline.

The Nebraska Methodist laymen in session Friday morning decided that the Methodist disciplne as now written in the books is plenty good enough regarding amusements,

The laity passed unanimously and without so much as a quibble a resolution that the general conference of the church hold fast in its stand against dancing, card-playing and the like and instructed the Nebraska delegates to fight any attempt to lower the bars relating to amusements and church membership.

The laymen passed the resolution twice, once while in session as the Nebraska Methodist laymen association and the second time while sitting as the Nebraska Methodist lay conference. Two hundred fifty accredited lay delegates were present at the meeting and several hundred additional laymen attended the meeting.

Considerable time was taken during the morning discussing what to do with the Nebraska Epworth Assembly. The delegates were unanimous that assembly and Epworth League institutes must be carried on and finally unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the Nebraska annual conference (the ministers) now in session to include in their financial askings this conference year an amount that will provide at least $2,500 annually for the purpose of Epworth park repairs and replacements.

The ministerial conference had previously referred a similar resolution to the committee on conference policy.

Cameron Is President.

M. D. Cameron of Omaha was elected president of the Nebraska laymen at the morning meeting. E. M. Avery of University Place was selected secretary.

The first ballot taken by the laymen for the selection of lay delegates to the general conference failed to elect a delegate at large. Miss Ella Watson of Lincoln was high vote-getter with 75 votes. M. D. Cameron of Omaha was next with 21. Others being considered on the second ballot were Delegates Talbot of Lincoln, Spurlock of York and Fellers of Chester.

The laity elected Dean Ringer of Omaha as chairman of the Nebraska laymen's association. The association passed a resolution asking the general Methodist conference to return Bishop Homer C. Stuntz to this area for apother four years.

An important consideration to come before the laymen Friday afternoon is a discussion of an amendment to the constitution of the Methodist Episcopal church regarding the holding of lay conferences annually.

The proposed amendment would empower the laity to pass on financial drives before they would be endorsed by the ministers at the annual conference.

SCOUR WOODS FOR MISSING CLUBMAN

Wealthy Des Moines Man Disappears While On Fishing Trip In North.

Authorities Inclined to Doubt Theory of Suicide By Drowning.

(Associated Press.)

PARK FALLS, Wis., Sept. 21—Searching parties in Price county are scouring the woods around Mason Lake near here in quest of Charles Rockwood, wealthy Des Moines, Ia., clubman and business man, missing since last Friday.

Although the boat in which Rockwood went fishing the day of his disappearance was found floating on the lake, members of the searching party headed by Sheriff August Johnson are inclined to believe Rockwood was not drowned, for his hat was on the land some distance from the boat.

Rockwood came to Mason lake in company with his father-in-law, George Roach, Indianapolis, more than a week ago for a fishing trip. Following their arrival, Rockwood is said to have expressed a wish to go fishing alone. When he did not return his camping companion began a search which has continued since. A youth near Draper was found who said he met a bareheaded man early Saturday morning who inquired the way to a railroad station His description appears to fit Rockwood.

WRECK INQUIRY REVIEWS LOG

Radio Operators From Point Arguello Naval Station Testify Regarding Much Disputed Compass Signals Preceding Disaster.

THE FLAGSHIP ASKED FOR THREE REPORTS

Original Log Book Introduced as Evidence Because of Objection of Counsel for Defendants to Certified Copies.

(International News Service.)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 21.—The naval board of inquiry probing the Point Honda disaster which cost the lives of twenty-three sailors and destroyed seven of the finest destroyers in the American navy, convened at the North Island air station today after a recess of one day.

Radio Operators Falls, Glasscock and Hamilton, all attached to the Point Arguello naval radio station and on watch during the hours immediately preceding the crash of the mosquito fleet upon the rocks of Honda head, were on hand to testify regarding the much disputed and discussed wireless compass reports received by the Delphy flagship of the ill-fated squadron.

The original log book of the Arguello station was introduced in evidence soon after the hearing opened, the log having been brought here because of objection by counsel for the thirteen defendant officers to certified copies on the ground that they were compiled by interested parties and might therefore easily contain "mistakes."

The log was gone over in detail so far as concerned the time between noon and 9 p. m., on the day of the crash. It showed that the radio station was literally swamped with requests from ships in the vicinity requesting compass bearings.

The log showed that the Delphy, flagship of the eleven destroyer squadron, asked for and received three compass bearing reports in the three prior to her destruction.

Telegram Is Read.

(Associated Press.)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 21.—A telegram alleging the receipt on August 23 of radio compass bearings from Point Arguello which would have put us ashore on San Miguel island if we had followed them, was read here today before a naval court of inquiry investigating the destroyer disaster in which seven ships were wrecked and twenty-three enlisted men perished off Point Honda, Cal., September 8.

The telegram was signed J. R. Stapler, but counsel for Captain Edward H. Watson, chief of the destroyer squadron, who produced it during his cross examination of Lieut. Commander John M. Ashley, superintendent of communications of the eleventh naval district, said he did not know the signer or what ship he commanded.

M. Motta declared the league had accomplished great things, but that it could not achieve all that was hoped for until the time arrived when the league had become universal.

CONSOLIDATION PLAN GIVEN UP

Authoritative Report Indicates Coolidge Has Abandoned Harding Policy of A Union of Railroads.

(Copyright 1923, International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President Coolidge has had to abandon one of his policies of the late President Harding—that of compelling the railroads of the country to consolidate into regional systems it was learned today from authoritive sources.

It is the first of the late president's major policies to go into the discard under the new administration.

Regional consolidation was the remedy for the railroad problem favored by Mr. Harding and Senator Cummins, republican, of Iowa, chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission. It furnished the keynote for all of the late president's utterances on transportation matters during his fatal western trip. He dealt with it specifically and at length in Kansas City.

It now appears extremely unlikely that congress will be asked to pass upon the plan at all.

Various reasons are assigned for the abandonment of the proposal:

Big Roads Opposed.

1.—The stronger of the railroads are against the plan.

2.—The even more strenuous opposition of the LaFollette group, in the new congress, shared too, by many of the more conservative western senators.

3.—The feeling on the part of President Coolidge and some of his advisers that the best thing to do with the railroads at this time is to go slow in the matter of legislation.

Voluntary consolidation is now permitted under the transportation act for those roads that want it, and it is felt that to stage a fight for compulsory consolidation at this time would be fraught with more danger than the majority of congress cares to incur.

It is recognized that the transportation act is to be submitted, to a grand assault on the new congress by so-called "radicals" led by Senator LaFollette, Brookhart et al.

There will be fighting enough in congress anyway, in view of the widespread demand for a general revision of freight rates.

TROOPS CHARGE BULGARIA REDS

Government Taking Drastic Measures to Quell Revolutionary Movement — Many Are Reported Killed and Wounded.

ATHENS, Sept. 2.—Many persons were killed and wounded in a clash between rebellious Bulgarian reds and police forces, according to a report received here today from Salonika.

Bulgarian cavalry charged the crowds with drawn sabres.

Some of the wounded are alleged to have died from stab wounds and beatings administered by the police.

Many arrests were made. A policeman was killed by a bomb explosion.

The Beulgarian government is taking drastic measures to quell the revolutionary movement.

Resistance by the rebellious reds is particularly strong in the Plevna district in northern Bulgaria.

The disruption of communications and censorship imposed by the Bulgarian government is making it difficult to obtain information direct from Sofia. All messages show evidences of censorship.

Reds Being Suppressed.

SOFIA, Sept. 21.—Disorders have taken place in various quarters of Bulgaria, fostered by communists, but the government is successfully suppressing them, it was announced today.

It is claimed that the red uprising was small and first reports were exaggerated.

The government announced that tranquility has been restored in the regions of Stara Seagra and Nova Zamora, where battles lasted for several hours.

Communists in the village of Chirpan established a "soviet."

There have been no developments on the frontiers.

Observing that one of the power transmission wires extending by his farm had broken and blown down, he went out to investigate. STATE TO CALL FOR CASH HELD IN STATE BANKS

Money Needed to Handle State's Expenses During "Lean" Period.

Treasure Robinson Announces $750,000 To Be Withdrawn at Present.

About three-quarters of a million dollars of state funds now on deposit with 50 or more state banks will be withdrawn in the near future to take care of obligations against the state treasury during the "lean period" of the year when tax receipts and other revenues are small. Letters are being sent out by State Treasurer Robinson informing the banks of his intention to draw upon them within a few days.

There is about $2,200,000 of money belonging to the state of Nebraska now on deposit in more than 300 banks, in sums ranging from $2,000 or $3,000 up to $15,000 each. These are what is known as "inactive accounts." They are left in the banks and draw 4 per cent interest so long as the funds are not needed, and the state treasurer does not check against them. When the treasury balance runs low, this money is available to pay the state's current bills. Treasurer Robinson's policy is not to withdraw all the state money from any bank, but to grade the amounts acording to how much is deposited with each. As he needs $750,000 for present use, and as this is about one-third of the whole sum contained in the "inactive accounts," Robinson will make a draft on each institution for approximately one-third of that it now has. There will be some exceptions to this rule. Later on, it will be necessary to make other drafts as new taxes do not begin coming in until December.

The general fund overdraft, which was nearly $300,000 on August 31, will be considerably greater at the close of business for September, due to the fact that not much revenue comes in at this season of the year while expenditures continue at the usual rate. Large payments are being made out of the state capitol fund to meet construction costs on the new building. Claims against that fund for over $100,000 were presented for payment.

Owing to the fact that national bank have to file special depository bond covering the maximum amount of state fund in their custody, Treasurer Robinson is not withdrawing any of the money held by them as inactive accounts. The sums to be drawn from state banks range from $1,000 to $5,000 each. Deposits in large city banks of Lincoln and Omaha, where the state has checking accounts, have already been reduced to some extent.

Letter To Banks.

Following is the circular letter which Mr. Robinson is addressing to state banks:

"I regret very much that it is going to be necessary for me to call on you for $————of your state deposit within a few days.

"I am calling on the banks only as a last resort, as it was my desire to leave all of your deosit with you just as long as possible. It was my plan to leave an uninvested balance in the permanent school fund in order to help out the banks, but the board of educational lands and funds has taken action that we must keep all the balance in the permanent school fund invested in order that sufficient interest may be earned for the support of the schools.

"In addition to this, the receipts are very light at this season of the year, and the expenditures heavy.

"You may rest assured that we will try to redeposit the amount just as soon as we have a sufficient surplus."

PARK ENTRANCE BEAUTIFUL SPOT

Area Has Been Transformed From One of Most Unsightly Within the City.

Tomson Says New Buildings Add to Attractiveness of Environment.

"If every resident of Lincoln would take a survey of Antelope park from the "O" Street entrance or from the Twenty-third Street corner while the trees still hold their foliage an impression will be had of the exceeding beauty of the landscape and the possibilities of the development. The new Elliott school with its classic drapings of masonary facing the park on the east has added in a remarkable degree to the attractiveness of the environment; said Frank D Tomson of Woods Brothers corporation.

Continuing, Mr. Tomson said, "This area was one of the most unsightly within the city less than ten years ago. Now it is becoming one of the most beautiful. The glimpse through the trees of the high school in the distance lends a distinctive character to the border line on the south The municipal pool and building supply a touch of color and graceful architecture on the west. Gradually the helpful relation of the weather-aged columns at the "O" Street entrance to the whole area is becoming evident. An addition to the environment to the southeast is the new Palin structure of old English design a combination apartment and mercantile building.

"There are a few cottages yet to be moved which will enlarge the expanse and increase the beauty of it. The inevitable tendency of the property owners facing the park will be to harmonize their holdings with the development of the park This will be a steadily improving situation.

"With the extension of the boulevard north on Twenty-third a further beautifying effort has been made. In time the Antelope running its course entirely across the city will become one of the most attractive places within the borders of Nebraska and made so without an undue expense Its transition from a district unkempt, unsightly and unsanitary to one of blooming shrubs, winding drives and dignified environs is a compliment to the city and a blessing to posterity. It is an object lesson in park and playground expansion that should in due course absorb all areas within the city offering similar possibilities

"These places of beauty lure many people of refinement and character to the city to become permanent residents And they instill within us pride in our community which is not the least of the city's assets."

UNVEIL MONUMENT TO WAR'S HEROES

Grand Army Post at Hastings Holds Dedicatory Services.

Organization Named For Silas A. Strickland, Soldier and Orator.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Sept. 21.—Gathered about the foot of their tall memorial shaft, thirty civil war veterans—all that were able to attend out of the aggregate membership of three hundred and seventy odd enrolled since the post was organized—dedicated the monument to the memory of the boys in blue who formed the Silas A. Strickland post in Hastings.

Since the contract for the memorial was let a little more than a year ago, death was summoned ten members of the post, the last of these answering his call on the day before the dedication and at the close of the service about the beautiful granite shaft, the little group of white haired men proudly carrying their flag and old-time muskets went to pay their last respects to the fallen comrade.

It was an impressive scene there under the trees on the court house square. Ex-Congressman W. E. Andrews delivered the principal address and the veterans put on their special ritualistic service before presenting the monument to the city and county through the mayor and council and the county board of supervisors.

The post was named in honor of the late General Elias A. Strickland a brilliant orator, soldier and statesman who helped to make the early history of Nebraska.

Coming from oYrk state, Silas A. Strickland located in Bellevue on October, 1854. He was elected to successive of the state legislature and in 1859 was elected speaker of the house. He was prominent in the fight for capital removal. He was appointed district attorney.

In 1861 the war of the rebellion having broken out Mr. Strickland assisted in raising the first Nebraska regiment. Colonel Thayer appointed him as adjutant. After participating in the battles of Donelson and Shioh, General Strickland resigned and went to Cincinnati, where he helped to raise the 50th Ohio volunteer infantry. His eloquence won for him appointment by Governor Todd as lieutenant Colonel of the regiment. He commanded the regiment at the battle of Perryville. His brigade commander having been killed, Colonel Strickland was promoted to the rank of brigadier general. He served through the entire Atlanta campaign. In the battle of Franklin his brigade lost 508 men, 23 line and seven staff officers. His command was in Sherman's march to the sea.

At the end of the war General Strickland was mustered out and returned to Nebraska to practice law. Upon admission of the state in 1867 General Strickland was appointed United States district attorney. He was president of the convention which made the state constitution, of 1871. He was a prominent republican and a powerful campaign speaker. He won great fame as an orator. He died at his home in Omaha in 1878. The widow and a daughter Mrs. J. B. Haynes, still reside in Omaha.

Have You a Daughter-

Omaha, Neb.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best remedy I have ever known for the ailments of women. It benefited me so much that when my daughter was on the verge of womanhood and was in frail, delicate health, I gave it to her without any hesitancy, and it removed all discomfort and regulated her system. It also put an end to fainting syells, which had been the cause of a great deal of worriment to us, and from a frail young girl she has grown into a healthy-looking young woman. I believe that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription saved her life and I often recommend this good medicine to the mothers of other young girls who are in need of just such medicine." — Mrs. Mary Wenz, 2825 Seward St.

SLAYING ON COAST STILL A MYSTERY

Divorced Husband of Dead Cafe Entertainer Hastens to Aid Police.

Officers Believe Woman May Have Been Killed Preceding Robbery.

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Sept 21—Despite a divorce two years ago, James Cass of El Centro, was reported to have arrived here today to assist the police in solving the mystery surrounding the brutal slaying of his former wife, a cafe entertainer, known in night life circles as Ethel Williams, formerly of Buffalo, N Y, whose nude body was found lying in a pool of blood in her north Toluca street apartment

The dead woman's 2-year old baby boy, Bobby, exhausted from lack of nourishment and ueglect, was found by its mother's body Mrs. Cass had been dead ten hours before the tragedy was discovered

The autopsy only tended to surround the woman's death with more mystery

Physicians who performed the autopsy were inclined to believe the blood on the woman's body came from the mouth wound.

Revelation of a robbery motive precluded the suicide theory toward which theories were drifting, following the autopsy. The robbery theory for the crime was revealed when a young woman known as "Marie" employed at the same South Spring street cafe where Mrs. Cass entertained, declared Mrs. Cass possessed $1,000 at the time of her death, with which she was to travel east on the first of next week. A search of the apartment after Mrs. Cass' body was discovered failed to reveal the money, which Mrs Cass is believed to have carried on her person.

The police today centered their efforts on finding the driver of a large automobile which was seen to drive hurridly away from in front of Mrs. Cass' apartment early Wednesday morning. Mrs. Cass' landlady told the police a man had been seen peering into Mrs Cass' apartment late Tuesday night but that the barking of a dog had chased him away

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19,141 Havana Ave, Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepsin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics, The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

You Can Have A Trial Bottle

The new skin is beautifully soft, clear, white and young. Just procure an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream —Advertisement

PIONEER HISTORY TOLD BY FLOATS

Historical Pageant at Fairbury Depicts Scenes of Early Days.

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 21.—Dr. Condra of the Nebraska state university sent an operator to Fairbury to take moving pictures of the historical pageant put on as a feature of the Jefferson county fair, showing the very early history of Jefferson county, its gradual development and the present improvements and productions of the county.

A representation of the first school house built in 1861, material sod, built near the present site of Powell, was exhibited on a float. The first director was Joel Helvy; the first teacher, Balentine Kyle; the first pupils were the seven children of Joel Helvey, the director. All connected with the school in any way are dead save Albert Helvey, a resident of Kansas.

Another float which attracted much attention was a representation of the first Russian families settling here in 1874, depicting the costumes worn. Another float represented a number of the Russians of the same settlement, today dressed in modern clothes riding in a $1,000 automobile beautifully decorated.

The Jenkins mill, built near Steele City in the early sixties, was represented by a miniature structure mounted on a heavy truck.

The display which attracted the most attention was the one from Richland precinct loaded with the agricultural products grown in that precinct. There was a sample of every thing that rich soil, sunshine and moisture is capable of producing. The agricultural products display this year in this county is by far the best and greatest in the history of the county.

A representation of the first sod house came from Lincoln precinct as did the representation of the mail service from the carrier by pony express to the airplane service.

Regardless of the fact that it was cloudy and rained several times Wednesday the attendance at the fair reached the high record.

Governor Ready to Arm Every Man In Oklahoma Who Is Opposed to Klan

Walton Asserts He "Has Crossed the Rubicon" And Is Ready For a Fight to the Finish, With "Invisible Empire."

(International News Service.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 21.—Bitter denial of Governor Walton's latest indictment against the Ku Klux Klan was expressed by the leader of the Oklahoma realm of the klan here today.

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the klan in Oklahoma, who is now charged with taking personal part in flogging parties characterized the charges as "another framed attempt at libel and character assassination."

Jewett said it seemed to him that Governor Walton is using "every contemptible trick within his command to make a target of me as head of the klan."

Governor Walton's latest sensational charges were contained in a transcript of the first evidence taken by the military board now in session in Oklahoma City conducting an investigation of the alleged domination of the klan in the city and county.

The transcript of evidence was accompanied by a statement by the governor in which he said the necessary guns will be placed in the hands of every man in Oklahoma who is opposed to the klan.

High Lights of Evidence.

The high lights of the evidence as revealed in testimony before the military court were:

1.—That N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the klan in Oklahoma, according to the testimony of Dr. A. A. Maulin, a local dentist, and member of the klan, was a "member of a self-constituted squad of whippers."

2.—That George W Clark, district judge of Oklahoma county; J. K. Wright, county attorney, and Thomas Cavnar, county sheriff here, are now or were members of the Ku Klux Klan, according to their own testimony before the board (Judge Clark, although admitting he joined the klan a year ago last May, insisted he did not consider himself a klansman now)

3.—That, according to the testimony of Dr. Maupin the telephone lines in Oklahoma City were frequently tapped by the Ku Klux Klan

In making public the testimony, Governor Walton prefaced the transcript of evidence with the evidence that Jewett and "his invisible empire shall not pass in this state."

Will Arm Every Man.

"If necessary," the governor declared, "I shall arm every man in the state who is opposed to the Ku Klux Klan."

Dr. Maupin told the military he joined the klan in April, 1920, but later quit the organization

The klan tried to get Jack Walton, then mayor, to join, Maupin said, but failed

"Jewett, a man named McCarron and three other fellows then planned to say Jack tried to get in and could not," the witness testified.

Concerning this, Grand Dragon Jewett has said:

"Walton did not frown on the klan until he learned that the klan did not smile on him. It is a fact of indisputable record that he was irregularly made a member of the klan and that, later recognition was refused him."

Dr. Maupin related how he had been told by the high klansmen of the whipping of a man named Merriman for alleged relations with another man's wife Both the victim and the woman, Maupin said, protested innocence.

Governor Walton reiterated today that the issue is now between "the sovereignty of Oklahoma and the rule of the invisible empire." He said as far as he is concerned he "has crossed the Rubicon" and it is a fight to the finish.

Visitors at Fair View a Spectacle Not Advertised

BILLINGS, Mont., Sept. 21.—Thousands of visitors to the Midland Empire fair were treated last night to a spectacle not advertised on the program.

At 10 o'clock the city was aroused by a continuous bursting of air bombs, over the rim rocks that surround the northern part of the city, followed a little later by the burst into flames of a cross nearly fifty feet in height, the fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan

As the cross blazed, lighting the entire top of the hills hundreds of red flares were touched off and on the edge of the hills, three hundred feet above the city marched hundreds of white robed members of the organization, carrying red and green flaming torches.

At the close of the ceremonies, several aerial bombs were exploded and the entire assembly sang "America."

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 21.—Dr. George Albert Kohler, wealthy physician, even during his honeymoon, believed that his wife should keep up to date with her family mending. When she failed to do so, Mrs. Bertha Day Kohler, the wife testified today in her divorce action. Also she testified she was astonished when they were married to find that her husband had saved up half a trunk full of dilapidated socks against the day when he had a wife who could mend them.

CAPTAIN TELLS OF YOKOHAMA QUAKE

Describes Collapse of Forest And Sinking of Island Into Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—A thrilling picture of the destruction of Yokohama, the great Japanese Fort at Yokusuka and the disappearance of Oshima island was told here today by Captain Tatuso Itch, of the Japanese freighter Horaisan Maru which was leaving the harbor when the earthquake shook Japan, Sept. 1.

"The ship trembled" he said. "The water became turbulent and looking through my glasses from the bridge I could see the buildings of Yokohama tumbling. Turning I saw one of the gret Okusuka forts collapse and then before my eyes the island of Oshima sank beneath the waters. There was nothing we could do so we continued our course to the United States."

Magical Beautifiers for Women

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that their effects are transitory. The first requisite of beauty is health. Without it the steps lag, eyes are lusterless, dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women. There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for nearly fifty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ills. Physical Health means—

Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so, too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. For S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.

S. S. S. is made of pure vegetable ingredients. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

What To Eat — Where To Get It — How To Cook It

The Reckless Age

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR.

Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company.

Aline Foster is a spoiled member of the younger set. Until she meets Mason Long, she plays with every man she meets, but she falls desperately in love with Long, only to discover that he has been using her for material in a novel he is writing on the jazz age. This is a terrific blow to her pride, and she is determined to be revenged. Her opportunity comes when, having gone on the stage and made good through the help of Matthew Hutchins, a big producer, she meets Long again, and he does not recognize her. In spite of the fact that she still loves him, she is determined to make him suffer, but in the meantime Hutchins make clear the fact that he cares for Aline, and she goes through an ugly scene with him.

CHAPTER LI.

The Spider and the Fly.

Since the night when Hutchins had made clear his intentions and Aline had given him to understand that she would not accept his love, he had made no move. But Aline had no illusions as to what he would do. He was big enough in the theatrical world to remove her from the cast if he wished, in spite of her personal success, but she judged that he would hardly do that. The play was an artistic success and she was perfectly cast for the part of Diana. To remove her would cause no end of talk up and down the rialto, and would perhaps ruin a thing that Hutchins had worked hard to make perfect. No; he would let the play have its run, but after that Aline felt sure she could look to him for no further help.

The future loomed up before her, but she was not very much concerned about it as yet. With the hit she had made she felt quite sure of placing herself elsewhere, even though her next play might lack the artistic finish that Hutchins' productions always possessed. That was that! But in the meantime she had the leading part in a Hutchins' play, she was a much-talked-about personage in New York; she had made good, and while she was at the height of her success she must bring Mason Long to her feet.

Since the afternoon when he had taken tea with her, she had given him no other chance to see her. She pleaded engagements, she put him off gracefully when he telephoned to her, and then one evening he appeared at the door of her dressing room directly after the performance his jaw squared and his strange eyes determined.

"Will you have supper with me tonight?" he asked grimly.

She looked up at him laughing. "I'm sorry," she began, "but I have another engagement."

"Break it!" The words were almost an order of a command

"Oh, but"—she began

"Break it," he repeated. "I have something I want to say to you. It's important and you've been putting me off for days.

Her heart leaped. Had the time come? Would tonight settle the old score, and would she at last reap her revenge?

"If it's so important I might let you carry me off," she said lightly. "I'll plead that you're an old friend in town for just one evening. How's that? But put please don't think I like to do thing like this. Ordinarily I'm very firm about breaking engagements."

He nodded shortly, his face relaxing a little, and sat down to wait in the anteroom. When she appeared about twenty minutes later dressed very simply in street clothes, he rose to his feet and they made their way out of the theatre in solence.

In the taxi it was she who spoke first.

"I've decided to spoil you by carrying you home with me to supper. Inasmuch as you have accused me of putting you off, I feel that I ought to square accounts. Her tone was very light, and she felt a strange sense of exhilaration. She rejoiced inwardly in the fact that she was so calm about the whole thing. The emotion that his presence had once roused in her seemed dead, she had risen above it, and there remained only her desire to be revenged, only her longing to see him humiliated.

The apartment reached, she led the way upstairs, chattering lightly about inconsequential things. She noticed that he answered in monosyllables, and this added to her sense of power. Oh, yes, she would settle the score tonight. Merciless and cold, she would not give him a chance, she would flay him with her scorn. Love? She laughed at the tought of the word. There was no place in her life for such a weakness. Having disposed of him, she would turn her thought on her career; she would live for her work; she would prove to the world that women could take love as lightly as men always had.

Tomorrow—Recognition.

To Hear Arguments On Proposed Rates

Arguments on proposed livestock rates for Nebraska will be heard before the interstate commerce commission and a representative of the Nebraska commission, sitting jointly, at Washington on October 10. Two members of the Nebraska body have recommended that the old rate to Omaha on the Burlington be restored so as to remove the inequality created by a former order of the federal tribunal, and that a readjustment be made to Sioux City from northeast Nebraska points. Commissioner Browne favors applying the north Missouri schedule to Nebraska, with special provision for the Sioux City zone, while a federal examiner has filed a somewhat similar recommendation.

Hears Arguments In Beatrice Case

The right to construct a power dam 12 feet high in the Blue river at Beatrice and use it in developing hydro-electric energy up to 450 horse power is claimed by the Black Bros. Power Mill of that city under a grant alleged to have been made by the Nebraska territorial legislature away back in 1860.

Relying thereon, the firm appealed to the state supreme court from the action of the state engineer in limiting it to a 9½ foot head of water. The case was argued before the high bench Thursday.

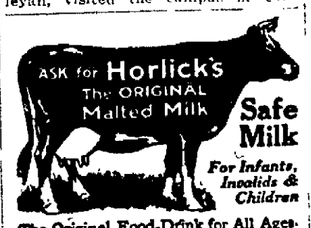

Land owners along the Blue river above the dam, who claim their acreage was flooded by the 12-foot dam constructed in 1922, are resisting the claim.

The original grant of the legislature was to J. B. Weston, who afterwar dserved as state auditor, and was assigned by him to Fordyce Roper, who built the mill and constructed a dam only 5 feet high. Since then, the height has been raised from time to time in order to get more power.

WESLEYAN NOTES.

Willard Simpson, of Surprise, who was graduated at Nebraska Wesleyan in the spring has been a campus visitor at his alma mater for several days. He will leave Saturday to enter Yale university where he has a fellowship in the department of forestry. He carried a major in botany under Prof. C. J. Shirk at Wesleyan.

Veryl Morgan, '22 Nebraska Wesleyan, visited the campus in University Place, Thursday. He will go to Omaha, Friday, to enter the medical college. His premedic work was completed at Wesleyan where he majored in zoology.

"Better Milk Products, Best for All"

In New York City

there are 2,000,000 quarts of milk consumed each day. And the authorities of that great metropolis demand that all this milk be pasteurized, with the exception of a small amount intended for infants.

We believe we could advance no stronger argument in favor of pasteurization than this fact that the guardians of the public health in the greatest metropolis in the world have endorsed it so notably.

BISCUITS FOR MORNING MEAL

Flaky Baking Powder Biscuits With Conserves Are Delicious.

Choice Recipes are Submitted By Readers of The Star.

With all of the fresh conserves that Milday has made there is nothing that could possibly be more delicious than flaky baking powder biscuits for breakfast or any other meal during the day. It takes such a little time to make them, and the result is surely a fit reward for the effort. The following are some of the choicest recipes for light, baking powder biscuits sent in by Star readers.

Baking Powder Biscuits.

Sift together one quart of flour, one tablespoon of salt, eight teaspoons of baking powder; add four tablespoons of lard and mix as for pie crust. When thoroughly mixed add one and one-half cups of sweet milk, stir with a spoon until mixed and then pour out on floured board, add as much flour as is necessary, to handle lightly, the softer the better, roll to about one-half inch in thickness and cut with a small cutter and bake in a piping hot oven. This makees about thirty small biscuits.

Two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons of butter or lard, three-fourths cup of milk or water.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add shortening and rub into flour with tips of fingers. Add milk or water, mix with knife to a soft dough, turn on to a lightly floured board and pat or roll two-half inch thickness. Shape with small biscuit cutter Bake in hot oven fifteen minutes

One good sized potato, one and one-half cups of flour, four level teaspoons of baking powder, one-half level teaspoon of salt, one-fourth cup of shortening, one egg one cup of milk.

Boil and mash potato, having it free from lumps. Sift the flour, salt and making powder, add the potato and rub in the shortening. Mix to a light dough with the egg and milk, roll out quite thin and, cut with small biscuit cutter and bake in a hot oven.

Two cups of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, three level teaspoons of baking powder, one tablespoon of butter, one tablespoon of lard, two-thirds cup of milk.

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Cut in the butter and lard with knife, then mix to soft dough with the liquid. Roll lightly to one-half inch in thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter and bake in hot oven from twelve to fifteen minutes.

Three minute biscuit—One cup of sweet milk, two cups of flour, two tablespoons of lard, one teaspoon of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt.

Mix dry ingredients, rub in shortening lastly, add milk, bake in quick oven

Take one quart of sweet milk, one-half cup of melted butter, two tablespoons of royal baking powder, flour enough to make a stiff batter. Do not knead into dough, but drop in buttered tins from spoon. Bake in hot oven.

Two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, three-fourths cup of milk, two tablespoons of lard.

Mix or sift dry materials , three times, work in lard with tips of fingers. Stir in milk and toss dough on floured board: Pat or roll to one-half inch thickness, handling as little as possible. Dip cutter into flour and cut dough. Bake ten or fifteen minutes in hot oven.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Products of Age.

Dear Minerva: I was very much interested in Ardent's letter about the girl of yesterday. And I grant she was a mighty fine girl too. But I do resent the criticism which is nowdays rampant of the modern girl just because she isn't like her mother. If she isn't, hasn't she maybe some traits that are superior. Add then too, Minerva, what about the boys. Are they like their fathers? Why can't we criticise thm a bit, at least be fair about this business of equalizing the new with the old.

What do you think? For Fair Play.

A. Let us consider the case as you present it. The gentle ladies of yesterday were supposed to be perfection plus. They could bake, boil, fry, stew, scrub, polish, cook, and what not. They were past mistresses in every useful art, so they say. Besides this the modern flapper make a poor showing they say, although I personally know a lot of them that are whizzes at the useful arts in a scientific manner. But there are a lot of them that are not. That I readily grant. But is a girl always to be judged by the biscuits they make? I notice that a lot of girls are mighty useful now days helping father out with the books at the office and in writing his ads for him.

It is really too bad the way the girls are so widely criticised, for it is appreciably marring the status of woman in the world today and interfring with her independence and happiness.

And to hear our grandfathers talk, wasn't the boy of yesterday also a miracle man? He was just about as handy about the home as his sister was, so they say It wa the day of Jack-of-all-trades, whereas today is the day of specialization Grandpa could do a bit of everything, could run a farm or a country newspaper, do his trick at a carpenter's bench or sell groceries. He knew the ins and outs of the household chores and when baby came he wasn't bother with doctors or nurses.

But the reason he did so many things was because he had to. Not because he liked to. Just as the mistress of the old-fashioned house was forced by stern necessity to be skilled in a score of crafts, so was her brother or husband forced to a knowledge of many trades. Population was sparse, homes scattered, experts, specialists few and far between

If they wanted something done they did it themselves or did without. There was no special righteousness in such a procedure as I see it. The women would far rather have bought soap than make it if such a procedure were possible They were the products of their times.

The modern boy, the modern husband has departed far from the general usefulness of his father and grandfather Take your druggist, for example. He is a good druggist and a level-headed, charitable, worth while asset to his community. But can he run a farm, doctor a pig, sole a shoe, build a barn, set up a column of type, shoe a horse or for that matter even harness one. No indeed. No doubt he can keep his car in running order, or at least clean and oil it, but that is because he finds this necessary to his own comfort, and a pleasure and relaxation from his specialized work. But it is not because he is one whit lazier or more stupid or possesses less initiative than his grandfather. Simply because he is swept along by circumstances over which he has little control.

Grandfather's life was what it was because he lived in a new, thinly settled country where conditions were primitive and craftsmen few. Grandson's life is what it is because he lives in a thickly settled country over-run with crafts and craftsmen.

That's why the boy of today differs from the sweet old-fashioned boy and that's why the girl of today differs from the sweet oldfashioned girl. In neither case is the change due to deterioration of character. It is just because we are all living in a different world. We can't bring back that world which has passed. We wouldn't like to if we could. It would be as very great hardship to us to have to do things in the primitive manner of our forebears.

Surely John isn't any less a man because he buys his shoes readymade instead of making his own as his grandfather may have done on the farm. Nor is Jane any less a lady because she does not devote her life to jams and jellies as many of the women on her family tree did.

And your point is well made. If we're going to be unreasonable and peevish about the changes in girls, let us consider the case of the boys also But why not be tolerant and broad-minded about both of them.

A Natural Instinct.

Dear Minerva: Does it surprise you to find so many would-be writers among your readers? Every once in a while I read a letter from someone asking some question about getting their manuscript accepted. What I want to know is what size paper is best to use for a manuscript and if it must be typewritten, and all other details about the form of submitting a story. I may not have anything saleable but at least I scribble a lot and would like to try Amateur.

A. No, I am not surprised at the frequency of the letters received from persons ambitious to write The love of writing is a medium of self expression inherent in human nature. Ages ago when time was young, our ancestors kept diaries, supplemented by personal impressions, original verses and an occasional confession of heart yearning and heart hunger that the writer wouldn't have admitted outside those sacred pages.

When the diary broadened in scope, it became a confidential trustworthy friend All this antedated the time when getting into print was the impelling motive so universal today among would-be writers.

If you are new in the game let me emphasize what you may already know, the necessity of writing and re-writing, interlining and blue penciling until you feel that you have brought your story as near perfection as possible.

By all means have your story or article typewritten. If you do not use the machine, hire it done by a public stenographer. Of course the pages are used on one side. The typewritten pages should measure 8 1-2 by 11 inches, and a margin of half an inch should be left on each side of the paper, an inch at the top and a half inch at the bottom. Lay your story flat between cardboard a little wider and broader than the manuscript pages. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope the size of the one holding your copy for possible return.

Questions Answered Briefly.

Bruce: You say you are very much in love with a girl who is engaged to another man. You knew nothing of the engagement until you had been courting her some time then she reluctantly told you of it. You ask what course you should pursue. The only honorable course is to give her up, unless she indicates a desire to be released from her engagement. No doubt she is a bit frivolous and enjoys sentimental encounters along the way, but her heart remains true to the man of her choice.

Interested: The twentieth wedding anniversary is the china. A set of dishes as proposed by you and your brothers will be an appropriate and happy surprise.

Peggy: Carmine, used largely in rouge formulas, has an exquisite color, but its constant and long continued use is said to dry and yellow the skin. Vermillion, a preparation of mercury is an active poison. The risk is too great for any transient beauty it is supposed to impart.

Young Mother: Your children show a tendency toward stooped shoulders Try having them sleep without pillows. When they are asleep see that their chins are up, their shoulders straight. If these measures, in connection with sufficient exercises, do not remedy, you may have to resort to braces for them.

STOKES' LAWYERS THREATEN ACTION

Claim Prosecutor Is Acting Without Power On Charges Brought By Wife.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21. — While Charles S. Wharton, assistant state's attorney investigating charges by Mrs. W. E. Stokes that a conspiracy to ruin her name has been promoted by her husband, a wealthy New York hotel owner, said indictments may result, Frank T. Jordan, attorney for Stokes declared that suit will be started against the prosecutor for usurpation of powers which the attorney claimed were not possessed by him.

Testimony of witnesses so far questioned by the prosecutor, he said, have strongly supported Mrs. Stokes' charges that her husband who accused her of indiscretions in his recent suit for divorce, has spent thousands of dollars here in an attempt to secure affidavits to establish her identity as a habitue of a notorious resort twenty years ago.

HUNDREDS GO TO BEACH THURSDAY

Weather Clears and Elk Frolic Draws Great Crowd to Playground.

Great crowds took advantage of the first really favorable weather Mo participate in the Elks Fall Frolic aat Capitol Beach They went early and stayed until a late hour, all apparently enjoying themselves to the limit. The concessions all did a good business and the carnival spirit was much in evidence, notwithstanding the fact that Saturday evening has been designated as carnival night

As on the previous nights the Kinkaid Kilties made a big hit, with their music and dances, all distinctively of a Highland character. The bagpipes and other Scottish instruments were popular with the big audience and recalls were numerous.

Something entirely new is promised by the Elks for the remaining three afternoons and evenings and those in charge of the Frolic say that if all do not thoroughly enjoy themselves it will not be because of lack of effort upon the part of the managers to provide entertainment. The novelty boxing bouts are a feature affording much entertainment every evening and they are to be continued.

Saturday is to be children's day and all the boys and girls are to be admitted to the grounds free up until 3 o'clock They are also to be given tickets entitling them to all rides free and it is expected that there will be hundreds of little folks at tthe Beach.

The dance floor was well filled all Thursday evening and the music was highly praised. The especially selected orchestra consists of ten musicians of the highest class and no better selected dance orchestra was ever assembled in Lincoln, it is claimed Admission to the beach remains at the usual price.

THE LUXURY TAX.

The proposal of Senator Smoot of Utah for a luxury or expenditure tax has raised such a storm of protest all over the country as to make it apparent that if this program is insisted upon by the chairman of the senate finance committee, taxation will be a very live subject in the approaching campaign. The sales tax proposal was turned down by the last congress and it is now generally understood that the Smoot measure is the same old bill under a new name.

Newspapers all over the country are but reflecting the thought of the people in protesting most vigorously against any increase of taxation whatever upon any pretext. Attention is being called to the fact that municipal taxes almost everywhere have been greatly increased within the past few years and any further advance will be absolutely unbearable.

New taxes of course mean new tax eaters and if the operation of the income tax offers any criterion as to what a sales levy would involve it might well be imagined that the tax consumers would be almost as numerous as taxpayers. The income tax measure is a fearfully and wonderfully made thing and those charged with its administration differ so as to what it really means that it cost $18,000,000 to audit its returns thus far this year and $124,000,000 has been returned to citizens from whom it had been wrongfully taken.

Senator Smoot explains that he does not want to tax all sales, but only those of articles classed as luxuries. A pair of shoes costing $3.50, for instance, would pay no tax, while a pair selling for $7.50 would pay. If the Utah senator can purchase a pair of real shoes for a grown person for $3.50 he should certainly have them exempted from taxation. It is a feat rarely accomplished in recent years. Furthermore, a pair of shoes costing $7.50 is not considered a luxury nowadays.

But regardless of the merits or demerits of the particular measure proposed by Senator Smoot or the object he may have in view, the fact remains that it is for the purpose of more heavily taxing the people, who are already overburdened. They will not tolerate further imposition no matter what the pretext or under what name it may go. What is wanted is reduction rather than increase of taxes.

ISSUES VERSUS CANDIDATES.

Nebraska voters will probably have more trouble in deciding whether to vote "yes" or "no" on abstract questions of government next year than in choosing between candidates on different party tickets from president of the United States down to county officers, justices of the peace, and constables, and on the nonpolitical ticket including judges and university regents. It looks just now as though there will be at least six important propositions submitted under the initiative, and perhaps more.

Here are the matters of governmental policy in Nebraska upon which the voters doubtless will be called upon to express themselves directly:

A one-house legislature.

Repeal of the code.

Repeal of the intangible tax law.

Water power development and operation by public districts.

Soldier bonus.

Abolishing party circle and electing state, county and legislative officials without party designation.

To these may be added the short ballot proposal and other questions, but without any additions to the foregoing list it is sufficiently formidable to require a lot of reading, thinking and studying by the men and women of the state in order to vote intelligently upon the matters that are fairly certain to be submitted.

The consideration of these questions is likely to receive fully as much attention from the voters, if not more, as the choice of their state officials. Indeed, the fate of candidates for state office will probably depend more or less upon the issues of code repeal and intangible tax repeal. The republican party stands committed in favor of these laws, for whose enactment it was responsible, while the democratic party is definitely opposed to them.

The ex-service men will see to it that the bonus question is brought prominently before the people.

There is no doubt that we are going to have an interesting campaign year in Nebraska.

THE OTHER FELLOW.

John W. Owens in The New Republic rather brutally points out the barriers, which President Coolidge will have to scale, if he lands the republican nomination for president in 1924.

Mr. Owens tells of an incident which happened in Washington.

It was about the time that "Hi-roaring" Johnson came back from Europe, prepared to open up his attack on the Harding proposal for world-court participation by America, and presumably against the renomination of the late president. A senator very close to the inside of the republican national machine was discussing politics, and particularly the plan to renominate Mr. Harding.

"We must renominate him, or confess failure," the senator is quoted as saying. "And we are going to renominate the other fellow, too. You know—You know who I mean! The other fellow, the vice-president. What's his name? Coolidge!"

Without reference to the authenticity of the story, the fact remains Mr. Owens has succeeded in effectively diagnosing the greatest weakness of President Coolidge. It is unknown, even in Washington.

The time remaining for President Coolidge to impress his personality on the voters of America is lamentably short. The chances are that he would not embrace the opportunity, even if he had another two years in which to carry out his program. Mr. Coolidge has been in office only a few weeks. During that period he has not revealed a single trait of humanness which would endear him to his constituency. He is cold and impassive, unmoved and unmoving. His few utterances have been parrot-like and uninspiring, devoid of sentiment and feeling. In short, President Coolidge's greatest barrier to renomination is his own personality—his coldness and aloofness; his inability to catch the popular fancy sufficiently to arouse the interest of the masses.

There is no secret in the plans of the republican machine.

It is a certainty that an effort will be made to put President Coolidge across at the republican convention. The senator, who figured in Owens' story, is said to have returned home after the death of President Harding and proclaimed he was for Coolidge for president in 1924. The tom-toms are beating; everything that can be done through the press to stimulate interest is being done, but without avail.

America's impressions of President Coolidge are no more distinct today than the day he took the oath of office.

"YES, WE HAVE NO NAVIGATORS."

When an enterprising reporter for the Los Angeles Times discovered that ten or eleven United States destroyers had gone aground on the Pacific coast instead of just seven as reported, and that four of them had succeeded in getting off the rocks and in limping their way to dry docks for repairs, the effect on the public opinion was twice as violent as it would have been had the whole truth been told by officials at the first. Thereby hangs a tale.

Any reputable newspaper will recognize and respect a confidence if it is shown that the public's good is to be served by keeping quiet for the time being on some subject. But unwarranted supression of news, affecting as this did, the interests of the entire country, by over-important officials, added an unpleasant touch to the full news when it was finally secured and published. Perhaps it is on this account that western coast papers are generally severe in their comments concerning the accident. No amount of hushing and no cloak of secrecy around the official investigation will keep the public long in the dark.

Millions of dollars of the public's money was piled up on the coast rocks and only the overly credulous believe that strange currents resulting from the Japan earthquake or a new ocean bottom caused the wrecks. It is pointedly suggested by some that the crews and some of the navigation officers thought they were wrecked seventy-five miles from their actual location, on an island instead of an the mainland and reporters, who succeeded in breaking through the strict seclusion thrown around the survivors, heard the sailors singing, "Yes, we have no navigators."

The failure to take the public into the confidence of the navy officials and to tell the whole story proved a boomerang that has not yet completed its return flight. We will have the whole unpleasant story in due time, emphasized by the failure of someone to recognize the rights of the public as represented by the press.

THE MIDDLE WEST ESCAPES.

One thing the middle west seems to have missed, or escaped if you like that term better, in a large measure is cigaret smoking among women. It is done, of course, in our clubs, in the hotels and in the privacy of the homes of our towns and cities but only to a limited extent and very little of it is evident to the general public.

Not so in the east or in the west. Smoking among the women is no longer either unusual or daring. It is almost unanimous and it is the abstaner and not the smoker who is apt to draw attention to herself. In the cafes, the women's dressing rooms, at the exclusive and not-so-exclusive clubs, nearly every woman smokes, young, old and indifferent. The west coast has followed the eastern fashion setters so fast that it has perhaps outdistanced them, for cigaret smoking there is as common as gum chewing and considered much better mannered.

The younger generation may have begun the fad but the older people took rather kindly to the idea and adopted it rapidly. Every woman's rest room is equipped for smokers and it is no longer possible to tell the sex of a party by the color of the air above it. We see so little of it yet in comparison that it is difficult to realize how general the custom has become.

Recent reference was made in this department to Nebraska's position in the dairy industry, which is still in its infancy in this state. Now announcement comes from Hamilton county that a conference of bankers and farmers was held there last week, and the decision reached to greatly enlarge the dairy herds. No step is of more vital importance to the farmers than the expansion of dairying in Nebraska. It gives positive insurance against the depression of drouth and crop failures if conducted in an ordinarily business-like way.

Comment by the Press

BRITAIN STANDS ALONE.

If Americans would drop their own notions about the league and consider the European situation dispassionately they would discover just how intimately what America stands for is involved.

Nobody can have missed the repeated announcements that Britain will stand by the league, and urge if not insist on a settlement of the south European troubles by the league. If we can catch the significance of this we shall understand everything. Britain is the one to stand by the league because the league is the expression of English speaking thinking on world affairs. The league is the adaption on a world scale of English speaking notions of government.

It is not at all remarkable that the backing of the league does not come from France, the league is not the natural expression of the French world view. The French consented to the league as many of the others consented because Britain and America were predominating in the treaty making.

The league was proposed in the United States and almost universally indorsed in the United States because it was peculiarly the work out of our American thinking on world affairs. The league was taken up by Britain and is today supported by Britain because the talent of Britain like the talent of America is for what may be called in the large the English speaking program.

Mussolini is putting against the screen a vivid illustration of the old life. Does anybody need to read history long to understand what Mussolini means to Europe? Does anybody doubt that one Mussolini will breed other Mussolinis? What is going to save Europe from this revival from the middle ages? Is it not the English speaking program of liberty under law, of established tribunals of justice, of enforced order?

And who is interested in sustaining the English speaking program, if America is not?

Why is Britain standing alone today in support of the one thing that promises any sort of assurance for the future, when if the English speaking would come together they could with the common consent of mankind set up the English speaking program?—Des Moines Register.

More Truth Than Poetry

A pensive cow is nipping where the weeds
are full of burrs,
There's a look of resignation in those big sad
eyes of hers;
On a hill beyond the pastures that were beautiful in May
There's a town where people hurry in the customary way;
Men wrong other men for profit, women
strut with foolish pride,
And a calf hangs in a market where the chopping blocks are wide.

A sad-eyed ewe is nipping where the grass
is thin and dry,
She is lonely and foresaken, and perhaps she wonders why;
Once a lamb went blithely skipping where the scrubby bushes grow,
But its playfulness is ended; it has gone
where good lambs go;
Blood is on a butcher's apron that was bloodless once and white,
And some old man may be bladdened by the chops he gets tonight.

Through misty eyes a mother gazes on her sleeping son;
She is planning for the future of her precious little one,
And in cities that are distant men whose heads are bald or gray
Are perfecting combinations that will lead to war some day.
But in future years the speeches will be eloquent and brave
When the captains lay their "tributes" on an unknown soldier's grave.

Constitution Week.

BY SUPREME JUDGE W. B. ROSE.

Constitution week should make a sacred apeal to every citizen of our republic. The solemn services attending the ceremonies are intended "To re-establish the constitution of the Unuited States and the principles and ideals of our government in the minds and hearts of the people." The purposes of the American constitution are declared in the preamble there to in these words:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic transquility, provide for the common defense, promote the generain welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

Ignorance of our institutions and laws, vicious conceptions of government, false-interest, lawlessness, harmful teaching, and evil propaganda threaten justice and transquility. It is possible to lose the blessings of liberty and to defeat the lofty purpose to secure them for posterity.

The liberty vouchsafed by the constitution includes the right to enter into contracts, accumulate and hold property, to receive the legitimate rewards of labor, to choose lawful vocations in life, and to retain honest profits of genius in the fields of science, are and literature. It also includes freedom of speech, freedom of the press and freedom of religious worship.

To secure these and other blessings of liberty the powers of government were divided by the constitution into three departments, legislative, executive and judicial, each in its own sphere independent of the others. A radical departure from former experiments in government was suggested in the writings of Montesquieu, a French scholar, philosopher, historian and writer. He had traced the pathway of the nations to the dawn of history. He had considered the causes of the downfall of empires and republics. He had contemplated the views which ancient peoples took of life, religion and government. His views on the division of governmental powers were reduced to practical form and inserted in the constitution of the United States by the wisest statesmen of the modern world. The blessings of liberty protected by the government thus created was purchased by the blood of martyrs and preserved by the patriotic living and the heroic dead.

It has not been by chance that society under the American constitution has made amazing strides in religious, civic and industrial life. These are attributable to the blessings of liberty under our constitution, and laws.

During constitution week the constitution should be studied and exalted. This will increase respect for law, promote patriotism, have a wholesome effect on society, and help to arouse the spirit, which prompted Longfellow to write:

Sail on, O Ship-of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity, with all its fears,
With all the hope of future years
Is hanging breathless on thy fate.

Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee;
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee!

Nebraska Land Values.

(Kearney Hub.)

Fred H. Richards of Fremont, president of the Nebraska Realtors' association, states his belief that land prices have finally reached bottom and that a steady recovery in values may be looked for. This view is justified by the precedents of the past fifty years. Best state values travel in a cycle of about seven years, the middle of the cycle touching the minimum and the end of the cycle reaching a climax, which is again in turn followed by a gradual decline. Our latest experience was rather extreme, owing to the world war inflation, and the collapse was more sudden because of the consequent sharp reaction. But just the same "land is land."

A Weak Assumption.

(Kearney Hub.)

Superintendent High of the anti-saloon league assumes that no man should be a district judge who is not known to be indisputably "dry," both inside and out. Meaning that only partisans should be on the bench, and taking it for granted that a judge of the courts will be governed in his decisions by personal bias instead of the law. It is a weak assumption not generally warranted by the history of the judiciary.

Railroads Get Theirs.

A great deal of the reponsibility for the high cost of living and the low price of farm products is being narrowed down to the railroads of the country, which have prospered so amazingly in the past few years that they are greedily hanging on to margins of profit to which they are not entitled. Emergency rates at least on wheat, potatoes, and a few other products, should be made even without a second request or especial urging.

Americans are not seriously interested in a world court, anyway. They make jokes about it.

Still, it's hardly worth while to devise a plan to abolish war until we devise a plan to abolish this peace.

Here and There

A Bumper Crop of Lawlessness.

(Dallas Dispatch.)

It is difficult to account for the reign of lawlessness which is sweeping a large part of the United States. Ohio, Georgia, Texas and Oklahoma report outrages against free citizens that belie the vaunted civilization of America. If similar incidents were reported in Poland we should doubtless be urged to send an investigating commission. In fact, both Great Britain and the United States sent commissions to Poland in 1919 for the purpose of reporting on outbreaks less violent—though they took place in the midst of war—than those now occurring in peaceful American states. Post-war restlessness and prohibition have been held accountable for the spasmodic disregard for the rights of individuals. The unsettled state of affairs and the disregard for all law that has followed the extensive disregard for the Volstead act, doubtless play their part in the present situation. But a more serious incitement is that spirit of intolerance which is the natural offspring of campaigns to make all persons conform to a like standard, be it morals, religion or political belief. Good intentions are everywhere admired, but good intentions unmixed with a sprinkling of intelligence, have brought much suffering to individuals and to nations. Good intentions gone wrong are the seeds from which the series of floggings have flowered.

The Moons of Mars.

Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Everybody knows that Dean Swift was a witty vulgarian, an influential churchman, an imaginative satirist, an entertaining writer; but how many have ever thought of the author of "Gulliver's Travels" as a scientist and astronomer? Very few, in all probability, but in the "Voyage to Laputa" Dean Swift brought out the discovery of the two moons of Mars. This was 150 years before the science of astronomy reached the point where the Laputan discovery could be verified. J. S. Dow, writing on "Man and the Stars in Science and Invention, says this "discovery" by Swift could have been nothing but coincidence. But if it was nothing but coincidence, it was a double coincidence, for Swift "calculated" the revolution of one of the moons of Mars at 10 hours, which is within three hours of the actual time now figured to an accepted certainty. It will not be seriously contended, of course, that Dean Swift had conscious knowledge of the two moons of Mars. But it might be suggested that what is commonly attributed to imagination may be a reflection of things known and forgotten a long time ago by the human race. Incidentally, the two moons of Mars are but toy moons. One of them is 20 miles in diameter and the other only 18. Moons of such smallness seem strange to earth-beings, accustomed as they are to a regular moon of the exact size that a properly constructed moon should be.

ITALIAN COLONY HONORS INDOVINA

Tender Banquet to President of Society of Christoforo Colombo.

Leaves Soon to Visit Old Home—Daughter to Study In Rome.

The Italian colony of Lincoln Thursday evening at the Lincoln hotel tendered a banquet to Michele Indovina, president of the Society of Christoforo Colombo, who is shortly to sail for a visit to his old home at Naples. Nearly a hundred attended, a third of number being ladies.

For a quarter of a century, Mr Indovina has made his home in Lincoln, and during that period he has been prominently identified with the Italian-American colony of this city. He is now taking first opportunity to visit the land of his birth, accompanying his daughter, Miss Josephine, to Rome where she will spend a year in study at the University of Rome in preparation for instructional work as a member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska. Miss Indovina was graduated from the university with Phi Beta Kappa honors for excellence in scholarship.

The tables were most attractively decorated with cut flowers, and a splendid seven course dinner was served.

The toastmaster, Nunzio Giaraffa, called upon Francesco Ferrara, Paola Mossineo, Francesco Pusateri, and E. G. Maggi, who spoke eloquently of the services of Mr. Indovina in inculcating the ideals of good citizenship, so that the Lincoln colony of Italian was considered a model Mention was made by Mr. Maggi of the wonderful opportunities America afforded her citizens, and of the deep gratitude and appreciation which the Lincoln colony of Italians held for Mr. Indovina. The speakers told of Miss Indovina's achievements in scholarship, and expressed their wishes for a pleasant trip to and from the homeland.

Miss Iindovina responded briefly to the kind words which had been spoken and Mr. Indovina also responded to the talks, expressing his appreciation.

Antonio Benigno, who possesses a tenor voice of rare beauty, entertained the company with a number of musical selections, with Miss Giannina Alesio at the piano. Miss Indovina was given a beautiful bracelet by her friends as a token of well wishes for a safe and happy voyage.

Besides Mr. Indovina, his wife and daughter, the guests of honor included Mayor C. Zehrung, S. C. Zimmerman and Ralph Seguin, of the Knights of Columbus, H T. Dobbins, State Journal, J. E. Lawrence, The Lincoln Star; E. G Maggi, honorary president of the society, Dr. George H. Walker, physician of the society, Father P. L. O'Loughlin, rector of Cathedral, and Messrs Salvatore Giunta and Guiseppe Dal'Molin.

The committee on arrangements included Salvatore Arrigo, Francesco Lo Schiva, Francesco Ferrar, Antonio Cusimano, Paolo Messineo, Nunzio Giaraffa, Antonio Quathrochi and Andrea Alesio.

NEW FIRES BREAK OUT IN CALIFORNIA

Hundreds of Volunteers Respond to Hurried Calls From Several Points.

(Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 21—Flames springing up early today in the forest and brush on the outskirts of the town of Ross, in Southeastern Marine county, gave new worry to tired fire fighters who have been battling for three days against conflagrations in that section.

Hurried calls for help were sent to San Anselmo, Larkspur, Kentfield and nearby towns, and several hundred volunteers responded.

OMAHA, Sept. 21—The house in Benson, a suburb, occupied by Fred Brown, alleged kidnapper of two Omaha women, who is serving a term in the Nebraska penitentiary, is now being used as a temporary school house for a few pupils.

NEBRASKA GETS MORE PHEASANTS

Seventeen Thousand to Be Distributed Throughout the State In Next Few Weeks. Game Warden Koster Continues Project Undertaken Several Years Ago.

About 1,700 more pheasants have been bought by State Game Warden Koster and will be distributed throughout the state during the next few weeks They were purchased from a game farm in Illinois, costing about $3 per bird, the whole bill coming to $4,995 A contract has been awarded to the Lincoln Box Manufacturing Co for 570 crates costing 43 cents each, in which the pheasants will be shipped out after they are received in carload consignments.

Two hens and one cock will be placed in each crate Shipments will be made to sportsmen and other citizens in each community who agree to turn the birds out where they will be able to find food and shelter such as they are accustomed to, and where conditions will be favorable for propagation.

This is a continuance of the project undertaken several years ago to stock Nebraska with pheasants which are not indigenous to this state but seem to thrive here after being imported A great many localities have already been supplied with them, and from most places a good increase in pheasant population is reported Chief Warden Koster expects that in two or three years it will be possible to establish an open season and permit hunters to kill them, under strict limitations

The distribution of pheasants was supplemented last spring by the purchase of several hundred settings of pheasant eggs, which the state game and fish department furnished to people who promised to set them under hens and look after the pheasant chicks until they were able to shift for themselves Chief Warden Kosters has reports showing that 80 per cent of the eggs hatched.

FEELS OIL BOOM NOW AT AN END

Southern California Producer Predicts Steady Decline In Production.

(Associated Press.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21. The unprecedented oil boom that California during the past year is over and from now on there will be a steady decline in production, S. A. Gulberson, jr., of the Southern California oil producers, said today before the annual convention of the national petroleum association.

The threatened shortage of gasoline in 1922 advanced the price of crude oil, led to many "wildcatting" schemes and opened up three new large oil fields in that state, Mr. Gulberson asserted. The serious overproduction that resulted is no longer menacing the industry and the decline in new wells has been so rapid that the peak is past, he added.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR SURE REMEDY

President and Cabinet Again Take Up Plight of Nation's Farmers.

Congressional Leaders Generally Feel Extra Session Would Be Unwise.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—The agricultural situation was before the cabinet again today with President Coolidge and his advisers earnestly seeking a remedy for a condition which has been described to the executive as one of as great gravity as ever existed in the far western states.

Experts of the department of agriculture are making a survey of the situation as it affects wheat growers, particularly hard hit, but their report has not been completed.

Talk of an extra session of congress to pass remedial legislation has been revived, but most congressional leaders now in Washington and administration officials generally are in agreement with the president that it would be unwise to summon congress to Washington until a specific program of relief has been agreed upon.

Among remedies proposed are a reduction of freight rates on grain from the producing centers to the principal market at Chicago and a revival of the United States grain corporation to handle this season's wheat crop.

Government Must Find New Means of Disposing of Fleet

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—The administration today again faced the task of formulating a policy for disposal of the government's merchant fleet as a substitute for that contemplated in the Lasker-Farley plan which Attorney General Daugherty has declared to be not legal.

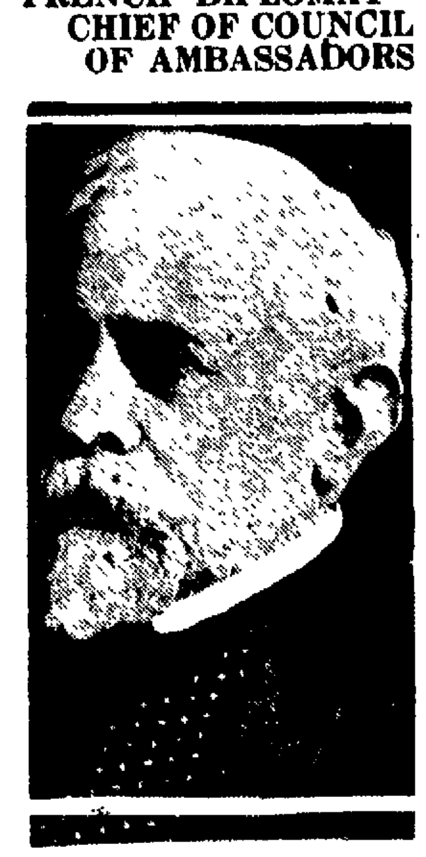

In an opinion, submitted to President Coolidge yesterday the attorney general held the Lasker-Farley plan for transferring the fleet to corporation organized under state laws would be unlawful, under provisions of the shipping act limiting disposition of the fleet to cash or credit sales.

Sweetser Swamps Gardner With Display of Matchless Golf

SWEETSER SETS DIZZY GOLF PACE

Amateur Champion Seven-Up On Gardner at End of Their First Round.

Plays Course One Under Par; Marston and Ouimet All Square at Halfway.

SWEETSER FAR IN FRONT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21—Jesse Sweetser of New York, defending champion, finished the first 18 holes of the morning round with Bob Gardner of Chicago 7 up in the national amateur golf championship at Flossmoor today.

Sweetser went out in par 36 and came home in one under par for a 37, while Gardner took 38 going out and required no fewer than 43 coming back.

Max Marston of Philadelphia and Francis Ouimet of Boston were all square at the end of the eighteenth hole.

FLOSSMOOR COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Jesse Sweetser of New York, defending champion, was two up at the first turn today in his semi-final match with Bob Gardner of Chicago in the national amateur golf championship.

Gardner won the first hole from Sweetser when the champion took four to reach the green against the wind, but the match was squared at the second when Gardner drove into a trap and took four. Sweetser put his tee short on the green and was down in two putts.

Then Gardner played some very bad golf slicing his drive to the rough and shanking an iron. These cost him a seven at the third and he followed this by putting his second over the green into a trap at the fourth and missed one in the trap. Sweetser won the third hole.

Gardner Plays Brilliantly.

Gardner, never a really sound player, but great at match play, showed some of his brilliant golf at the par four, fifth and sixth holes, making birdie threes on each by means of an eight-foot putt at the fifth and a twelve-foot putt at the sixth. This squared the match.

Sweetser won the short seventh, pitching over the pond just short of the hole. Gardner took three putts from the far edge of the green and Sweetser won with a three to become one up.

Sweetser Two Up at Turn.

Sweetser won the eighth hole where he holed a three-foot putt for a birdie three. His second, a pitch over traps, was perfect. They halved the ninth, leaving Sweetser two up. The cards:

Sweetser, out .6 3 5 4 4 4 3 3 4—36
Gardner, out ..5 4 7 6 3 3 4 4 4—10

Ouimet led Marston two holes at the fifth.

Champion Widens Gap.

Both had birdie fours at the tenth getting home with iron with the following wind. They reached the eleventh green with their tee shots, but Gardner was at the left edge of the large green and his approach putt was weak. He could not hole a seven-footer and Sweetser, who drove near the pin, won with a three, making Sweetser three-up.

Francis Ouimet of Boston and Max Marston of Philadelphia reached the end of their first nine holes all square. Both had scores of forty.

Ouimet assumed a lead over Marston early, being two up at the end of the first three holes of lay. Poor putting soon lost him the advantage, as well as an unfortunate break on the ninth hole. Ouimet's drive found a wheel rut. He played out to the edge of the green, but was unable to get his approach putt dead. On the sixth Ouimet sliced his drive to the woods and lost the other hole.

Marston and Ouimet Even.

Early in the game, Marston had trouble with his putting, having a six-footer to win the first hole, and failing, after which Ouimet picked up the second when Marston sliced to the rough and failed to get dead on his second. Ouimet won the third hole also when Marston's third shot found a trap near the green, and his fourth was strong. At the short seventh Marston took three putts and was two down again, but he won both the eighth and ninth, Ouimet taking three putts on each green. The cards:

Marston, out...5 5 6 4 4 4 4 4 4—40
Ouimet, out...5 4 5 4 4 5 3 5 5—40

Sweetser won his way to the semi-finals yesterday by defeating Jesse Guilford of Boston, 2 and 1. Gardner did not have to extend himself to oust Densmore Shute of Huntington, W. V., for he caught the latter off his game and defeated him, 6 and 5, gaining a six-hole lead in the first round.

Ouimet Downed Von Elm.

Marston in yesterday's rounds did not repeat the unbeatable golf he played in downing Jones, for he took 80 in the forenoon and was one over par for the holes he played in the afternoon, eliminating Joe Wells of East Liverpool, 4 and 3. Ouimet was off stroke for a time yesterday in his match with George Von Elm of Salt Lake City, whom he finally downed 2 and 1.

The finish of the third round matches was almost lost sight of by the large gallery, which flocked to the play-off between Chick Evans and Bobby Jones, who had tied at 75-74—149 for low medal honors in the qualifying round.

The former open and amateur champion finished with 36-40—76 to Jones 37-35—72, giving the open champion the gold medal.

Thursday's Results.

Bob Gardner, Chicago, defeated Densmore Shute, Huntington, W. Va., 6 and 5.

Jesse Sweetser, New York, defeated Jesse Guilford, Boston, 3 and 1.

Max Marston, Philadelphia, defeated Joe Wells, East Liverpool, O., 4 and 3.

Francis Ouimet, Boston, defeated George Von Elm, Salt Lake, 2 and 1.

Firpo Yelps at Tex Rickard, But Has No Squawk Coming

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—It smacks of ingratitude for Luis Angel Firpo to take verbal pot shots at Tex Rickard these days and to emit growls about the promoter "rushing me too soon into a fight with so formidable a man as Jack Dempsey."

Those who are familiar with all the slants and the angles in the frantic adventures of Firpo in these United States, feel that Firpo, instead of heaving brickbats at Rickard should be composing sweet ditties of thanks.

For Rickard is the man who made it possible for Firpo to gather more than $350,000 and world wide fame unto himself. If it were not for Tex Rickard, this Firpo person might still be bouncing off boobs in the bushes for $15 or so per bounce.

Here's the story: After Firpo had polished off three dubs in the springtime of 1922, he signed a contract to mingle in his next American fray in behalf of the Pioneer Sporting club of New York, which agreed to pay him a paltry flock of dollars. Then Luis sailed away to his home land and rusticated for a spell.

When he came back Rickard offered him a fight with Bill Brennan. This Bill was good once, but he was "all in" about that time. Still he had a reputation and it was obvious that if Firpo could "take" Bill it would enhance his prestige around these American shores.

Rickard Gets In Game.

Firpo was for fighting Brennan—but the Pioneer outfit got busy and tried to force Firpo to fight for them. Rickard then entered into the affair and it was largely through his efforts that the New York state athletic commission ruled that the Firpo contract with the Pioneer crowd was just a scrap of paper.

Then Rickard and Firpo sat down and pow-wowed. Rickard said to Firpo:

"I wish to sign you to an agreement whereby in one year you will fight four fights under my promotion, the last to be against the world's champion, provided I can make the match."

"That is agreeable," said Firpo.

Up Line For Easy Money.

The articles were signed. Firpo then fought Brennan, for which Rickard paid him a snug sum in American dollars—a sum about eight times greater than he had ever earned before. Rickard then "sicked" Firpo onto Jack McAuliffe—and Firpo was given perhaps $25,000 for that fight. Then Rickard matched the South American gent with Jess Willard. Firpo was paid something like $73,000 for that evening's frolic.

From this it will be seen that Rickard paid Firpo over $100,000 in a few months—and Firpo's share in the movie rights probably netted him $75,000 to $100,000 more.

"Tex" Clever Press Agent.

By that time Firpo's successes, coupled with the perfect press agenting which Rickard engineered for him, made him a formidable looking foeman for Jack Dempsey. So Rickard immediately got busy in the effort to send the boys against each other.

Rickard realized that if the boys didn't get together in September there would be no future chance of their meeting during the lifetime of the contract. For an October open-air date was not feasible and before warm weather came, with the springtime of 1924, the contract would be a dead issue.

And, of course, Rickard appreciated the fact that he couldn't fight 'em indoors, inasmuch as no arena was big enough to house a crowd that would pay enough money to satisfy both fighters.

Stood Pat On Contract.

So Rickard insisted upon September 14. Firpo balked. But it got him nowhere. Inasmuch as he had signed up to meet Dempsey within a year, the date to be designated by the promoter, there was nothing for him to do but go ahead with the match.

Firpo got a rather nifty socking—but he was paid $125,000 for such services and probably cut himself a nice slice from the moving picture melon.

How much do you think Firpo would have made within the year if he had not been fighting under the promotion of Rickard, who enriched him to the extent of $350,000—perhaps more—and which man he now pans and verbally flays because of insistence that he (Firpo) should live up to the contract which he signed in good faith?

Crawford to Play Out-state Teams

(Special to The Star.)

CRAWFORD, Neb., Sept. 21.—Crawford high school will play teams of three states this year—South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska. The schedule is one of the hardest in the history of the local school, as the bookings include Sheridan, state champion of Wyoming the past several seasons; Hot Springs, S. D., and Alliance, Neb.

There are six members of the 1922 team back in school. They are: Carl Anderson, fullback; Roy Worthington, halfback; Lloyd Pipher, quarter; Elwood Glossbrenner, center; John McFarland, tackle; Herbert Allen, guard.

Although losing more men than was expected, the new material is giving indications of filling the vacant gaps with good success. The new men showing up well include: John Minnick, Galloway, Pittman, Metzgar, Pipher, Boylan, Mahlman, Masters and Arner. Carl Andersen is captain, this making his second year as leader of the local grid squad.

Coach Harold V. Smith announces the season will open with the Sioux County high school here next Friday. The schedule follows:

Sept. 28—Sioux County high at Crawford.
Oct. 5—Alliance at Crawford
Oct. 12—Open.
Oct. 19—Gordon at Crawford.
Oct. 27—Sheridan at Crawford.
Nov. 2—Hot Springs at Hot Springs, S. D.
Nov. 9—Chadron at Chadron.
Nov. 16—Gordon at Gordon.
Nov. 22—Chadron at Crawford
Nov 30—Open.

Pennant 'Dope'

With the Yankees having the bunting safely tacked away for 1923, interest in the pennant fight centers on whether the Giants can maintain their present advantage and come through.

With only ten more games to play, the Giants lead the Reds by four games and the Pirates by six games. If the Giants win six of their remaining games they will finish half a game ahead of the Reds or Pirates even if these teams win all of their contests.

Today the Giants play a double-header with the Pirates. They have three games with Pittsburgh and then visit Cincinnati for two games with the Reds. If the Giants hold their own in these two series, they will meet the Yankees in the world's series for the third time.

Among the prospects are: Curtis Underwood and Isaac Friedman. Along with the bright outlook for a winning team, Pierce has a stiff schedule. The slate follows:

SCRIMMAGE GRIND BY DAWSON SQUAD

Huskers Had First Whirl At Actual Grid Combat In Thursday Drill.

Coach Dawson's Cornhusker football warriors took their first whirl at scrimmage practice of the season Thursday afternoon, a tentative first-string aggregation battling with a so-called second team in a tussle of twenty minutes.

With the Illinois game only two weeks distant and the wafting of information from Urbana that Zuppke's proteges are fast attaining physical condition and team perfection, the word has gone forth at Nebraska that Dawson's pupils will scrimmage regularly every day for a week, thus to give the head tutor a line on the worth and possibilities of every candidate, a process by which he will sort out the thirty men who will make the journey to the Illinois camp.

The Nebraska coach stationed Myers and Thomsen at ends, Bassett and Weir at tackles, Berquist and McGlasson at guards, Wostoupal at Center, Noble and Herb Dewitz at halfbacks, Hartman at fullback and Catpain Lewellen at quarter. In this fashion, the first-stringers pounded through the line and drove off the tackles for consistent gains, although fumbles occasionally halted their advance. Noble, Dewitz, Hartman and Lewellen alternated in lugging the ball, Dewitz once breaking loose to a touchdown.

Dawson then dismissed the first-string backs and gave possession of the ball to the second-stringers, who battered away at the first-team line. Sixty huskies and more were in suit Thursday afternoon. Selection of the thirty whom Dawson possibly will take to Illinois will not be attempted until after the head coach has had ten days or more in which to look them all over in the regular program of scrimmage practice.

Four Knockouts On York Program

(Special to The Star.)

YORK, Neb., Sept. 21.—Four knockouts featured the Thursday night glove program promoted here by the York National Guard. Walter Goold of York floored Frankie Moore of Lincoln in a first-round kayo, and Speed Wise, York bantam, disposed of John Fields, Central City, in similar fashion. Harold Jelsma of Lincoln filled in for Kid Ferris in facing Bill Haberman, Jelsma going down for the count in the fourth session.

Ace Hudkins, Lincoln lightweight, lugged too many gloves for Frankie Larson of Sioux City in the windup bout. Hudkins had his opponent outclassed and put Larson down for the count in the third frame.

Wills Quits Chase of Dempsey; Takes Match With Smith

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Harry Wills, negro heavyweight title contender, has been matched to fight Homer Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich., in a ten-round contest the night of September 27. The bout will be of unusual interest, not only because it will mark Wills' first ring appearance in a year, but also because Smith gained prominence by staying the limit of a ten-round match with Luis Angel Firpo last August 3 at Omaha, Neb.

Smith was the first boxer to stay the limit with Firpo since the Argentine "mauler's" advent to pugilistic fame in this country. The Michigan fighter was knocked down almost at will by the South American, but managed to weather the storm of blows until the last bell.

Wills, unsuccessful in his protracted campaign to force Jack Dempsey into a title match, now has declared his willingness to meet Firpo to decide which shall be entitled to the next bout with the champion. But so far little progress has been made toward making the match, for Wills has flatly declared he will not fight Firpo in the Argentine, while the South American battler already has signed with Promoter Tex Rickard to box Wills next April in his native country.

Seven Letter Men On Pierce Eleven

PIERCE, Neb., Sept. 21.—Seven letter men are on the football squad at Ewing this year. Coach Edward Bath has the following veterans back this season: Captain Victor Marquardt, Lowell Lolly, Herman Noffke, Leo Tomjack, Dudley French, Duke Wood, Art Sanders.

ZUPPKE SPRINGS NEW GRID STAR

"Swede" Hall Qualifies for Quarterback Station In Nebraska Game.

(Special to The Star.)

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 21.—Plunging from obscurity into the limelight over night is the happy fate of Harry "Swede" Hall, who is being shown preference for quarterback on the University of Illinois varsity eleven this fall.

Hall, barring accidents, will probably pilot the "Fighting Illini" against Nebraska, Missouri Valley champions, in the first game of the season on Illinois field, October 6.

Second Star of the Family.

"Swede" comes by his football ability naturally, for he is a younger brother of "Swede" Hall, who piloted the 1911 Illinois team in the famous Minnesota game that year.

Entering the university in 1921, young Hall, who had distinguished himself as a football player in his home town of Waukegan, Ill., was a member of the freshman team. Last year he was not available, but this year he is fit and Coach Robert C. Zuppke has given him a chance to exhibit at quarterback during the early season practice.

Shows Class as Kicker.

Hall is well liked by the other players. He has an educated toe, is fast on his feet, weighs 160 pounds, and has shown excellent football judgment in driving the team from the pivot position. He has a penetrating voice in giving signals.

S. A. Coutchie of Harvey, Illinois, substitute quarterback on last year's team, is back in school and making an earnest bid for attention. Harold C. Bauer of Chicago, a member of the freshman squad last year, is also showing to good advantage in the varsity tryouts for quarterback. There is also the possibility that "Rune" Clark may become eligible and try to win back his old job.

MILAN, Italy—Erminio Spalla, the Italian heavyweight pugilist, has issued a challenge to Jack Dempsey of the world.

Omaha Fight Promoter Files Bid for Firpo-Renault Glove Wrangle

OMAHA IN FIELD FOR FIRPO FIGHT

Promoter Boyle Bobs Up With Offer to Match Wild Bull With Jack Renault.

(Associated Press.)

OMAHA, Sept. 21.—A match between Luis Angel Firpo and Jack Renault of New York, who last night knocked out "Tiny" Herman, local heavyweight, in the seventh round of their scheduled ten-round bout, is in the making. Pat Boyle, local promoter, said today. Renault, according to his manager, Leo Flynn, has agreed to the bout.

Firpo, if he agrees to the bout, will be given $25,000, Boyle said.

Although outweighed twenty-eight pounds by Herman, Renault never was in danger and defeated his opponent with ease.

GOTHAM DECLINES TO NOTICE SIKI

New Yorkers Devoting Scant Attention to Eccentric Senegal Fighter.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—That vivid personality known as Battling Siki, gay boulevardier, whose exploits abroad kept the cable chattering for months, peeped shyly around one corner of Broadway's life today for the first time since he landed in America some weeks ago.

New York had forgotten the battler.

In Paris Siki's generous impulse for making himself obnoxious, what with pet lions, absinthe, fixed fights and the informal socking of cafe patrons, made him a head liner in the public eye. Here, he is just one loose leaf among so many. He may still have the publicity complex but the competition is keen and the battler's stuff is entirely too rugged, not to say unrefined.

Though he has appeared on the streets of New York, a subdued vision in pearl gray, he hasn't attained the slightest notice because New York is surfeited with freaks. New York would not pay undue attention to an unordained bishop in a Navajo blanket.

In Bad With Muldoon.

Siki has been straight-arming the wolf from the door sill by giving exhibitions in the LaFayette theatre, an obscure playhouse uptown. He neglected to obtain permission from the Duke of Muldoon and has been summoned before a magistrate. In this way he has broken into print for the first time in weeks. The incident got slightly more than three lines in the morning papers. They were a requiem for the battling Siki, who once furnished "copy" by the hour for the news scavengers. Almost any negro pugilist in difficulties with the law would have received similar notice.

Siki has either lost his ability to attract attention or else the bizarre element in his make-up has been much exaggerated.

Treads the Narrow Path.

The drinking of absinthe by the quart, the punching of waiters and other idiosyncracies of his career abroad have not been evident here. Siki is behaving himself in public, whatever else he may be doing in private.

Likewise, his personal appearance provides contradiction of what America first pictured him through photographs. In these he seemed to be short and chunkey, but he is tall and lithe, in reality, and seems to be built for speed. He has tremendous shoulders and equally generous biceps, sixteen inches by the tape.

It was these that gave him leverage to knock Carpentier upside down and gain the world's light-heavyweight title.

Eleven Veterans On Leigh Grid Squad

(Special to The Star)

LEIGH, Neb., Sept. 21.—Eleven veterans are back on the football squad at Leigh high school this season.

The letter men are Captain M. Koolen, H. Koolen, M. C. Craig, Ed Jungbluth, J. Hobel, George Kumpf, Paul Feye, J. Hobel, George Kibler, G. Hall, A. Claussen.

Last year's back field remains intact except for the loss of Captain Hahn at left half. Kumpf, who played end last year, will probably be shifted to that position.

The season opens here today with Scribner. The 1923 slate includes Scribner, West Point, Tilden, Stanton, Neligh, Wayne, Osceola and Creighton Prep of Omaha. Gordon Heyhoe is coaching the team.

The Athletics went into a tie for sixth place by disposing of the White Sox, 5 to 3.

Glazner shut the Reds absolutely out in the first game, 2 to nothing. But the Phils couldn't stand prosperity and dropped the second, 8 to 7, in eleven innings.

Last Night's Fights

At Omaha—Jack Renault, New York, knocked out "Tiny" Herman, Omaha heavyweight, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout last night. The weights were Renault, 195 pounds; Herman, 223 pounds. In the semi-windup, Merrie Schlaifer was awarded the referee's decision over Charley Long. The men are welterweights. Mike Rozgall, Omaha, won a referee's decision over Ted Garten, Lincoln, in four rounds.

At Davenport, Ia.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, won from Bobby Green, San Antonio, Tex., by a technical knockout in the eight round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Ralph Alexander, Waterloo, Ia., won over Jack McDonald, Chicago, in the eight round semi-windup.

JACK KEARNS SWING PUNCH ON JOWL OF CHAMPION'S TRAINER

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

(Copyright 1923 by King Features Syndicate.)

As Jack Dempsey toddled back to his corner after that cyclonic first round with Luis of the Argentine, Jack Kearns whirled upon Jerry Luvadis, the trainer, and emitted a roar above the tumult of the hysterical crowd.

"Smelling salts—smelling salts."

"Me no got—no got," howled Luvadis, otherwise known as "Jerry the Greek."

Kearns, maddened through the seeming carelessness of Jerry in not having smelling salts handy, swung a might punch which caught the trainer on the cheek and nearly knocked him into the left field bleachers.

After the second round began, Kearns discovered that the bottle had been in his own shirt pocket all the time.

Julia Lydig Hoyt, regarded for years as "America's Most Beautiful Woman," was at the ringside, thinly disguised as a reporter. When things began to happen in the first round, Julia climbed to a standing position. So did everybody else. The planking snapped and those in that row fell into a scrambled heap.

Julia discovered that in falling she had jammed the high heels of her shoes into the calfe of a leg-owned by Mike McTigue, light-heavyweight champion of the world.

After the fight was over Julia wrote her story—and did little other than detail what a lovely gracious fellow was Mike McTigue, and how sweetly and how courteously he had forgiven her transgression, or whatever it happens to be when a lady digs her heels into masculine flesh.

"The reason Jack didn't finish Looie in the first round was because the crowd was so huge," comments Jack Kearns. "I said it would take the champion only such time to finish the Argentine kid as it took me to count the house. Ordinarily I can count any house in less than three minutes. But that was such a big outpouring that it took me nearly four minutes. Soon as I had finished I wig-wagged Jack all was well—and then Jack socked Looie to sleep."

Ray J. Cannon, an attorney of Milwaukee, who is Dempsey's personal legal advisor, reached the Polo Grounds with two extra $27.50 tickets. Cannon said:

"I grabbed a cop as the crowd was twisting and turning me around like a pin-wheel and said to him: 'Here's a couple of seats for you,' whereupon the cop told me if he again caught me trying to give those counterfeit tickets away he'd throw me into jail for eighty years.

"The jamming, whirling mob carried me along against one of the posts that support the elevated railroad. I saw a couple of fellows standing there. I attempted to give them the tickets. They gave me the razz—and that's all. A pair of kids were standing nearby. I offered the tickets to them—and they gave me the laugh.

"Just then I saw a Catholic priest being carried along on the edge of humanity. I got close to him, grabbed his hand, jammed the tickets into them, said: 'Here's too seats, Father'—and then I ducked out of his sight, for fear that even so gentle a soul would repulse my effort to give away $55 worth of ringside seats."

Charlie White, the lightweight party, drifted in from Chicago and parked himself in one of those $27.50 seats.

"I saw Dempsey swing a left, Firpo swing a right—and from that time on I saw nothing but the back of a guy in front of me," recounts White.

His experience was the same as every human who paid top prices for one of those so-called "ringside seats." Never was a crowd so defrauded—but defrauded unconsciously—as was that which paid out the $27.50 to view the proceedings.

The press box had been built up higher than it ever was built before. As a result, the folks in the first row of the $27.50 seats could see nothing but the backs of reportorial heads. Naturally, they stood up. The cash customers in back of them stood up—and everybody on the field was standing up within ten seconds after the hurricanic affair got under way.

Those who sat in the elevated seats in the grandstand and paid only a few dollars for the privilege, saw every move in the entire affair.

After the battle, Dempsey grinningly said to one of his friends:

"Everybody has an idea that I went out of the ring because I was hammered out of it. All wrong—all wrong. Now lemme slip it to you straight. I went out of it and sat in one of the judge's lap for a little while so that I could tell him to be sure and not to give Firpo a long count the next time I soaked him on the whiskers."

COTNER TO MIX WITH ALUMNI

Practice Game Dated for Next Friday; Brighter Prospects In Bulldog Camp.

BY GREGG M'BRIDE.

Coach Earl Parminter of Cotner college has been busy the past week preparing the Bulldog gridsters for the opening tilt of the season Friday, Sept. 28, when the 1923 Blue and White squad will mix with an auumni aggregation.

Prospects for a winning team at the Bethany institution are a little brighter than at the start of the season because of the showing made by several new men. Parminter has forty men out, with eight veterans included in the lot.

Eight Letter Men.

Letter men back are Captain Mark Bock, guard; "Bill" Borgaard, center; Paul Nichols, end; Paul Kraybill, halfback; Lewis Bigge, center and guard; Harold Cooper, halfback; Ray Borgaard, end; Henry Harmon, end.

"Cy" Stearns, David City athlete, is one of the finds among the new material. He tips the scales at 170 pounds and is out for the fullback position. Reed of Stamford is another fullback candidate.

Other promising candidates among the new men include the following youngsters who are after positions in the line: Hutsell and Beins of Aurora; Harold Sandstedt, Kline and Ronald Sandstedt of Bethany; Marti of Cortland, Kans.; Hockett of Beloit, Kans., and Jack Nichols of St. Louis, Mo.

New Men for Back Field.

Among the promising new men for the backfield may be listed Gorman of Bethany, Manning of Geneva and Clark of Clay Center. Manning was one of the main cogs in Geneva's athletic teams last year.

Schuman of Bethany and Wieber of St. Francis, Kans., are the likely candidates for quarter.

The season proper at Bethany will open October 5, when the Cotner Bulldogs will meet the Doane Tigers. The game between the rival teams promises to attract a large crowd to the suburban gridiron.

NEW YORK—There will be no race between Zev and My Own for the honor of meeting Papyrus, English derby winner, in the international race at Belmont park, October 10.

JACK SALTS COIN FOR 'RAINY DAY'

Dempsey Insures Life For Round Sum; Buys Quarter Million of Bonds.

(Associated Press.)

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 21—Jack Dempsey, realizing that new champions arise with the passing years, has made financial provision for the future by taking out and paying up, in full, a fifteen-year endowment life insurance policy for $25,000.

Dempsey paid with a check for $16,618.

Helps Catch Pickpocket.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, during his stay here yesterday stood on the corner of State and Madison streets, called by Chicagoans the world's busiest corner, and watched his friend, Detective Sergeant Mike Trant, arrest Stanley Jurzna, 11, called by police the city's youngest pickpocket. The champion and the detective saw the boy lift a purse from a woman's handbag, unnoticed by the victim. She refused to sign a complaint when the purse was returned to her.

The money that "came easy" to Dempsey in his three minutes and 57 seconds battle with Firpo, will not go easy, he declared here when he said that $250,000 of the $480,000 he received has been invested in bonds bearing an average of 6 and 1-2 per cent interest, all safe risks that a "widow would be safe in taking."

Touching the Bases.

The Yankees fell heir to their third consecutive championship in the American league by finishing one jump ahead of the Browns, 4 to 3. Jones confined the visiting firemen to two hits until the seventh, but weakened thereafter and the Browns had the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth when Williams hoisted a feeble foul to Schang.

In another of the series of doubleheaders, the Tigers took the Red Sox in the opener, 5 to 4, and battled to a tenn-inning tie, 2 to 2, in the second game.

ONE-HOUSE PLAN FINDING FAVOR. SAYS ORGANIZER

Over 1,000 Signatures Obtained In Lincoln to Initiative Petitions.

Former Secretary of State Is Placed In Charge of Campaign.

Over 1,000 signatures have already been obtained in Lincoln to initiative petitions for the one-house legislative plan, and 90 per cent of those to whom the petitions were presented have signed them, according to the statement of Otto Mutz, secretary-organizer for the committee of 20 which has charge of the movement.

Mr Mutz said that he has received a number of letters from over the state, written by people who are in favor of the plan and have volunteered to circulatae petitions in their localities

Besides himself, only one other man has circulated any petitions here in Lincoln, he stated The 1,000 signatures were obtained by himself and L. Westgate within the last few days.

M. Amsberry, former secretary of state, has been selected as chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign for a one-house legislature. Alanson Chapman is treasurer and Mutz is secretary-organizer.

Answers Bryan Criticism.

The following statement has been issued by Mr Mutz in answer to Governor Bryan's criticism of the plan:

"To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Without trying to provoke controversy, the committee of twenty who are conducting a campaign for a single house legislature in Nebraska feel that Governor Bryan's statement in your paper of the 20th must not go unchallenged

"Twice in the last two days he has made public statements in which he has discouraged the movement to provide for a one-house legislature instead of a house and senate.

"Just when Mr. Bryan assumed the role of a compromiser is not disclosed in his pacific discussion of the single house legislature, but if he thinks that the minds of Nebraska taxpayers can forget so soon the political bickerings of the men who were elected on a promise to reduce the people's taxes and then spent an entire session standing guard over the political spoils, and the party that should get them, he is misjudging the temper of Nebraska voters.

"Everybody promiseed tax reform and tax reduction before election, and the promise was either forgotten, or the contending forces were unable to realize on their promises while the political battle was going on. History must record that every promise failed and the people paid the bills.

"I think that the people know where to place the blame. Lest there may be one who would go astray in this, I want to record the statement that the house with 99 votes tried to repeal our law for the assessment of intangible property, and the senate, that we are told keeps a check on the house, checked this righteous law for defeat This carries out a statement made by the governor of Kansas some time ago, when he said in answer to a statement that the senate was needed to keep a check on the house. The senate does check the measures passed by the house, it is true, but my observation has been that they check the good laws for defeat and the bad laws for passage."

"Today, the issues in Nebraska have changed The people have learned again that if they want relief they must help themselves. They have known for fifty years that every corporation seeking special privileges and every other special privilege seeker goes to the senate for the special favor it or he wants to secure. Why don't they go to the house The people know the answer to this question, and they know the dangers that lurk around the atmosphere of senate action

"Is there a single good argument for a two house legislature? Must all law-making bodies have two houses—one to check the other? How about corporations, do they have two executive committees, one to check the other? And do cities have two legislative bodies?

"The two-house system of legislation is a relic of England. They had a house of lords and a house of commons. The business of the house of Lords was to protect the royalty of England from possible legislation in the house of commons detrimental to the royal blood of the mother country.

"This nation has no royalty. It will never have. Whether it is a fact that the senate has looked after the interests of our rich men or not, it is so charged, and to relieve the impression in the minds of the people they must furnish evidence.

A Political Incubator.

"Mr. Bryan said not a word about the political bickerings that are always an accompaniment to a two-house political legislature Last winter these bickerings amounted to a disgraceful political war. No session of a Nebraska legislature was ever free from these bickerings, and none will ever be as long as we have two houses, partly regularity, political spoils, political ambitions, and special privileges to contend with. A legislative session is nothing less than a political incubator in which personal ambition are hatched, and political machines are built while the people pay the bills.

"I am not fixing blame I am certain that the personnel of our last legislature was quite up to that of any preceding legislature Nebraska has had and I believe that unfettered by political regularity and prejudice they would have redeemed every promise they made before election.

"The senate must be abolished. It has represented special interests oftener than it has represented the people. It has always contained men who, were above suspicion, but it has always been well said. "Watch the senate.'

"Two houses in a legislative body double the possibility of wrong and double the expense.

"The amendment we are proposing will pave the way for drafting men for public office. It will inspire the confidence of the peoplee. It will insure the election of men upon whom official honor will be a proud distinction. It will insure a more careful consideration of all measures. It will have no party questions too decide We have been misgoverned by a two-house political legislature long enough.

'Can the people not get together and without political bickerings unite upon this great reform Seven of the nine provinces of Canada have had a one-house legislature for years Nebraska sent a committee in 1913 to look them ove, and report to the legislature with recommendations They went. When they returned they recommended that our legislature submit an amendment at once, but the senate with its politicians defeated it. It was again defeated last winter.

'Our initiative is before the people Some wanted legislature composed of 20 or 30 members, some wanted fifty, but a large majority of those consulted wanted the house of 100 members to remain and abolish the senate. This is our proposal. Vote for the principle, and in heaven's name let us have no contentions and bickerings, for thr is too much at stake for the people Politics must stand aside The people must sit for once as a great jury unfettered by political prejudice to render a verdict on the greatest cause theey have ever been proposed for their betterment. "Yours for a better government. 'The One House Legislature Campaign

Omaha Municipal Yard Orders Ten Carloads of Coal

A mining company at Uniontown, Pa., sent him an offer of good black steam coal at $2 per ton.

PLACES BLAME ON POLITICIANS

Dillon Says Farmers Misled In Agitation For Lower Freight Rates.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Sept 21—Radical politicians have led farmers to believe freight rates are the chief cause of their troubles, declared Charles Dillon, assistant to chairman of the Western railways committee on public relations, in an address prepared for delivery today before the Fort Dodge chamber of commerce.

Politicians, he asserted, are misleading farmers in certain sections into supporting forces and legislative measures certain, if successful, to do them and the whole country a permament harm to cure a temporary condition.

"Leading farmers' organizations are opposed to government ownership of railroads," Mr. Dillon said "The railroads as a whole, paid nearly $305,000 000 in taxes last year, almost enough to py the cost of digging the Panama canal. It took one-eighth of the net earnings of the railroads in 1913 to pay taxes In 1922 dividends were $271,577,000 against $305,000,000 for taxes The railroad wage bill last year was $2,-681,000,00 and this year it is likely to be $500,000,000 higher Wages continue upward and demands for further increases are creating situations in which rate reductions are out of the question

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—The Japanese war office today refused to divulge the cause of the dismissal of several officers charged with the enforcement of martial law in Japan's earthquake devastated districts. The war office said their dismissal was not connected with their action toward foreigners and it is presumed irregularity of action toward civilian Japanese caused the dismissal

Ambassador Woods and Admiral Anderson called on the premier and other officals prior to the departure of Admiral Anderson from Yokohama today with the American fleet.

Cowgill Declares Sidewalk Situation A Serious Problem

Commissioner Cowgill Friday morning stated that the Lincoln sidewalk situation had reached the point where drastic measures must be taken regardless of the objections of some citizens and the lack of support of the other commissioners.

Thursday Mr. Cowgill received a large number of communications complaining of the poor condition of certain sidewalks or the lack of walks.

These particular instances dealt with situations which the city has long been allowing to slide merely because a certan property owner did not wish to put in a walk or objected to the city putting one in.

"It is time that some action be taken," said Mr. Cowgill, "and if the commissioners will not support me in carrying out the ordinances they should strike out the ordinance or make such changes as will enable them to be carried out in a satisfactory manner."

DAY OF THE 'HICK' FARMER IS GONE

Farm Bureau Federation Lay Blame For Caricatures To The Movies.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The "hick" farmer with hay seed in his whiskers and trousers tucked in his boots, caricatured in the movies and on the stage, will be relegated to the same shelf with the Dodo bird, if plans approved here yesterday at the publicity convention of the American farm bureau federation are successful.

Movies will dispel the ancient farmer, a type of business man with a capital of from $25,000 to $10,000, an owned of an automobile and the latest farm machinery.

The blame for the old "Yankee farmer" type being carried in the minds of the majority of America's city dwellers was laid at the door of the movie producers themselves by Samuel Guard, director of publicity of the federation.

"The farm is modern and up to date with all the conveniences and comforts of the city, out the film producer has woefully neglected to keep pace with the farmer," he declared. "They fail to depict us as citizens, but perfer to picture us as hicks' and 'rubes.'

"We don't want these kind of caricatures circulating among the public and if the motion picture interests won't picture rural life and districts as they should be we intend to produce our 'own pictures.'

THE "AD" THAT SAVED A CITY

ROME was being attacked. The massive walls were breached. The enemies pressed hard on every side. To the north, the invaders crept stealthily through the night to storm the gates. In the dark, they stumbled on a flock of geese. The fowls cackled loud and long---the sentries heard---and Rome was saved.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 21.

CATTLE—Receipts, 400. Not enough cattle of any class here today to test the market, which ruled nominally steady all round. The week's trade is around 50c lower on corn fed stock, steady to 25c lower on grass beeves and mostly 25 to 40c lower on all stock except canners and best shipping cows and heifers, which have held nearly steady. Stockers and feeders were as much as 25 to 40c lower at once time, but they are losing with part of the loss regained, and clearance fairly good.

HOGS—Receipts, 3,000. NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.

Stock prices developed alternate periods of weakness end strength in today's session with net losses predominating at the close. Eastern railroad shares and low priced oils showed moderate strength. Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Considerable irregularity developed at the opening of today's stock market, but the main trend appeared to be upward. Oils received better support and improved fractionally, while American Woolen, which was weak yesterday, held steady on announcement of President Wood that no reduction in the present dividend was contemplated. Leathers were heavy, American Hide & Leather preferred, dropping 1⅛.

Renewal of selling pressure turned the market heavy again before the first half hour. American Woolen dropped 2⅛ points to 76¼, another low record for the year, and losses of a point or more took place in Baldwin, Central Leather common and preferred, the Pan-American issues, Houston and Royal Dutch. Steels also were heavy, Gulf States slipping 1⅜ and all the other issues yielding fractionally. Foreign exchanges opened irregular.

The reactionary trend was halted in the middle of the morning by a series of bullish demonstrations in the eastern railroad shares, which eventually led to short covering in many other parts of the list. New York Central, Reading common and first preferred, Baltimore & Ohio and Erie first preferred advanced 1 to 1⅛ points. Moderate recoveries took place in U. S. States, Bethlehem and Republican Steels. Baldwin and Studebaker, which previously had established new lows on the movement. Call money opened at 4 per cent.

Several sharp breaks occurred among inactive stocks in the afternoon. Kelsey Wheel dropped 5 points and Foundation Company 4⅛.

The general industrial list was also subjected to renewed pressure with Baldwin, Gulf States Steel, Davis Chemical and the motor and motor accessories shares conspicuously heavy.

The closing was irregular. Week-end short covering in some of the low priced oils, which rose 1 to nearly 2 points in the last hour, was counteracted by fresh offerings of some of the speculative favorites when the call money rate was backed up to 5 per cent.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 21.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 21.—Flattening out of buying power led to a material decline in wheat prices today after December delivery had risen to about 3 cents over Monday's low point. The close was weak, ⅝ cents to 1⅛ cent net lower, with December, $1.02⅝ to $1.02⅝@1.03⅛.

WHEAT—Despite a weak start, wheat scored new upturns in price during the early dealings. Initial declines were ascribed to the fact that Liverpool quotations were lower than had been looked for. Winnipeg prices, however, showed comparative firmness, and with offerings here light, it took but little buying to lift values. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c lower, with December $1.03⅝@1.03⅞ and May $1.09, was followed by a slight general setback and then by an advance to well above yesterday's finish.

Subsequently the market receded. Export demand was slow, and marketings at country points in Canada were much larger than a year ago.

CORN—Unfavorable weather and scantiness of immediate supplies gave firmness to corn. After opening at ¼c off to a like advance, December 67¾@67⅞c, the market showed an upward tendency, September delivery in particular.

Later, free selling of new crop months brought about a reaction. The close was unsettled at a range varying from ⅝c net decline to 1c advance. December 67¼@67⅜c.

OATS—Oats sympathized with other grain, starting ⅛c lower to 1⅛c gain, December 39⅞c. Later the market hardened all around.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were firmer in response to higher quotations on hogs.

Awards Are Made In Lincoln Cases

H. C. Deats, a Lincoln carpenter, has been awarded compensation amounting to $15 per week from October 5, 1922, as the result of injuries sustained in an accident while working for George Ridgway. The sum of $414 has already been paid and is to be deducted. Payments are to continue until the extent of his permanent disability is determined and a physical examination for that purpose is to be made within ten days. John Snowden is relieved from any liability in the case.

In another Lincoln case, State Labor Commissioner Frye awards $1,134 to C. C. Bikel against A. W. Hoyt, in weekly installments of $12.60 of which a part has already been paid.

Claims filed by relatives for full compensation amounting to $5,250 for the death of Fred E. Hans, accidentally killed in an elevator in the World-Herald building in Omaha, have been dismissed, following a settlement in which $1,000 is reported to have been paid as a lump sum. The divorced wife of Hans and several of his children were among the claimants.

Says Infected Cattle Coming Into Nebraska

Cattle and horses from anthrax-infected territory in South Dakota are being driven over the state line int Nebraska and loaded on cars at Valentine, Cody, Eli and Merriman for shipment to market, without being inspected and certified as free from the disease, according to information given by Will C. Heelan, a Valentine attorney, in a letter to State Agriculture Secretary Shumway.

Heelan declares that farmers and stock raisers in Cherry county are complaining of this, fearing that the deadly malad will thus be brought into their localities and subject them to financial loss.

Nebraska and Iowa have a quarantine in effect against animals from South Dakota that are not officially inspected and certified by federal veterinarians. By driving them across the state line, the South Dakota cattlemen are evading this requirement.

Railroads are supposed to be cooperating with federal and state officials in the matter, but the Northwestern has shipped out many South Dakota cattle from the Nebraska points named. Its management will be asked to keep closer tab on such shipments hereafter.

The shipments will be made two to four carloads per day, commencing at once, partly from here and partly from Beatrice.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

Virgo people, especially the women, are usually firm believers in the necessity of medicines and seem to be the victims of all sorts of maladies, if they are judged by their own accounts of their symptoms. They are usually very constant to their physicians, often changing their aches, but not their doctors.

Virgo people are usually of middle or tall stature, with round faces, musical voices well formed bodies and elegant manners. True companionship may be found among those born under Sagittarius, Libra or under their own sign, Libra.

The governing sign, Virgo, is the sign of the Virgin, and the governing planet is Mercury, the Winged God. The astral colors are black and gold while the birthstone is a pink jasper.

Be constant to The Star Want Ads. Make them a daily habit, and it will be one well worth while cultivating.

PRESIDENT AND CABINET POSE FOR FIRST TIME FOR CAMERA

The president and cabinet photographed on the White House lawn.

This photo of President Coolidge and the cabinet is the first taken of the new chief executive and his official family. The cabinet remains to date as it was in the closing months of the Harding regime. The photo was taken after a recent cabinet meeting, the members adjourning to the White House lawn to let the photographers "shoot" them for the "official family" album.

UNDERWOOD NOT A LEAGUE ADVOCATE

Changes Attitude Following Italo-Greek Dispute, Chicago Paper Says.

Alabama's Candidate For the Democratic Nomination Formerly Strong Backer.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama's candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, is no longer a strong advocate of the league of nations, he is credited by the Chiago Tribune today as saying in an interview.

To the senator, once an eloquent advocate of the league, who was in Chicago on his way to Washington from a fishing vacation at Eagle River, Wis., was attributed the following statement:

"I am no longer a strong advocate of the league of nations. My original views are well known. However, on my trip abroad I saw the league at work. Developments then and subsequently have changed my attitude. The failure of the league to function in the dispute between Italy and Greece had much to do with the change."

Yeggs Steal College Safe In California

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 21.—After attacking and binding G. W. Robinson, night watchman, and robbing him of his keys, a gang of six bandits entered the library building of the University of California, southern branch, and carried away a safe containing $2,288 in cash, but failed in an attempt to steal another larger safe containing $3,600.

The money which was stolen had been raised by the southern branch as a relief fund for students at the main university at Berkeley, who were left practically destitute by the fire last Monday.

Woman Killed In Peculiar Plunge Of Automobile

DENVER, Sept. 21.—Mrs. S. J. George, 58, of Alliance, O., died today from injuries received yesterday when an automobile in which she was sitting was driven into an open elevator shaft on the main floor of the Central garage by an employe of the garage. The car dropped to the basement, turning over in the fall and pinning Mrs. George underneath.

NEW YORK STRIKE SAME AS SETTLED

Publishers Issue Papers and Refuse to Deal With Striking Pressmen.

NEW YORK Sept. 21—New York's newspaper publishers today resumed consideration of a proposal by Major George L. Berry, president of the international printing pressmen's and assistants union of North America, by which a new contract, ignoring 2,500 members of local No. 25, now on strike, would be consummated. Hope that an agreement might be reached was entertained.

The proposal eliminates the striking local from further relations with the publishers. The latter now are to deal entirely with the international union.

By pooling their resources, publishers today issued more than 70 per cent of their normal morning editions, eight page type.

"The situation is no longer serious," Lester L. Jones, executive representative of the publishers association said.

Many pressmen from out of town have volunteered to serve at the call of the international union, it was stated.

Newspaper trucks and wagons were today under police guard—a precautionary measure to prevent rumored attacks.

He was accompanied by his family. Since the dissolving of the Methodist-Congregational federation in the spring, the pulpit of the Congregational church has been supplied by a substitute minister.
